Fredrich, 1989 Explores the history and heritage the people the projects and the ethics involved in the development of the civil engineering profession This anthology discusses topics such as the art of engineering the role of the engineer in society and the development of engineering education It also examines the field and its relationship with society Civil Engineering - Volume I Kiyoshi Horikawa, Qizhong Guo, 2009 Civil Engineering is the component of Encyclopedia of Physical Sciences Engineering and Technology Resources in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems EOLSS which is an integrated compendium of twenty one Encyclopedias Civil Engineering is the oldest of the engineering specialties and has contributed very much to develop our society throughout the long history of human life The advancement of civil engineering has therefore been closely related to that of civilization In this theme human activities on the earth from ancient times to the present are briefly reviewed first and then the history of the process to establish the civil engineering discipline is discussed for better understanding of the important role that civil engineering has played in the growth of a mature society from both technological and social points of view Broad diversification of civil engineering has resulted from the enormous expansion of society during the latter half of the twentieth century The various branches are briefly described to show the notable characters that civil engineering has formed to maintain the sustainable development of society The Theme on Civil Engineering with contributions from distinguished experts in the field provides the essential aspects and fundamentals of civil engineering The two volumes are aimed at the following five major target audiences University and College Students Educators Professional Practitioners Research Personnel and Policy Analysts Managers and Decision Makers NGOs and GOs The Engineering-Business Nexus Steen Hyldgaard Christensen, Bernard Delahousse, Christelle Didier, Martin Meganck, Mike Murphy, 2018-11-14 Fascinating and compelling in equal measure this volume presents a critical examination of the multilayered relationships between engineering and business In so doing the study also stimulates ethical reflection on how these relationships either enhance or inhibit strategies to address vital issues of our time In the context of geopolitical economic and environmental tendencies the authors explore the world that we should want to create and the role of the engineer and the business manager in this endeavor Throughout this volume the authors identify periods of alignment and periods of tension between engineering and business They look at focal points of the engineering business nexus related to the development of capitalism The book explores past and present movements to reshape reform or reject this nexus The volume is informed by questions of importance for industry as well as for higher education These are What kinds of conflict arise for engineers in their attempts to straddle both professional and organizational commitments How should professionals be managed to avoid a clash of managerial and professional cultures How do engineers create value in firms and corporations What kinds of tension exist between higher education and industry What challenges does the neoliberal entrepreneurial university pose for management faculty students society and industry

Should engineering graduates be ready for work and can they possibly be What kinds of business issues are reflected in engineering education curricula and for what purpose Is there a limit to the degree of business hybridization in engineering degree programs and if so what would be the criterion for its definition Is there a place in engineering education curricula for reflective critique of assumptions related to business and economic thinking One ideal of management and control comes to the fore as the Anthropocene the world transformed into an engineered artefact which includes human existence The volume raises the question as to how engineering and business together should be considered given the fact that the current engineering business nexus remains embedded within an economic model of continual growth By addressing macro level issues such as energy policy sustainable development globalization and social justice this study will both help create awareness and stimulate development of self knowledge among practitioners educators and students thereby ultimately addressing the need for better informed citizens to safeguard planet Earth as a human life supporting system
