Traditional Medicine in the Irish Literary Revival Holly May Walker-Dunseith, 2025-03-21 This book explores representations of traditional medicine and healing practices in Irish Revival era literature spanning from the late nineteenth century to the early twentieth century. Specifically the book focuses on the work of William Butler Yeats, Lady Augusta Gregory and John Millington Synge. The author examines folk medical practices and analyses how folk medicine appears in literature, bringing to light fresh contexts and materials including diaries, letters, folklore collections and medical texts. By writing the first book to explore the place of traditional medicine in Irish literature, Walker Dunseith sheds light on a distinctive area of Irish life and practice that gestures towards the possibility of a culture and nation in the act of healing itself and questioning nationalistic discourses.

The Cold of May Day

Monday, Robert Anthony Welch, 2014-05-22. The Cold of May Day Monday offers an individual view of the history of Irish literature from its very earliest phases up to the present day more or less with discussions of major writers such as Friel, Heaney, Derek Mahon, McGahern and John Banville. Robert Welch traces the roots of Irish literature in myth and legend and explores ancient and pre-Celtic deposits and remembrances, saga literature as well as devotional writing, the bardic heritage and the cycles of tales of early Ireland. The importance and survival of folklore and the later phases of Irish literature from the seventeenth century onwards. Welch frames his study around themes and clusters rather than chronology, seeking to retain coherence by means of a sustained attention to the thematic strains. Substantial attention is paid to the figure of the Hag in Irish literary culture. The often deeply troubled relations between Ireland and England inevitably call for treatment as well, most notably in chapters examining the Great Famine and its consequences for literature and cultural expression. Yeats is one of the key figures as are O'Casey and Synge but the focus is on their literary output not their political experiences though these are not overlooked. Robert Welch offers a readable account of a fascinating literary history providing insights into the connections between Irish legend and literature and accounts of some of the best Irish writers of the twentieth century.

Zack Bowen, Andrew Carpenter, Richard Allen, Caves, Terry Eagleston, John Wilson, Foster, Richard Kearney, Michael Keneally, Declan Kiberd, Edna Longley, Fintan O'Toole, Patrick Rafroidi, Hiroshi Suzuki, Mary Helen Thuente, Wolfgang Zach. Literature, Culture and the Arts Josephine M. Guy,2017-10-23 The late nineteenth century fin de si cle has proved an enduringly fascinating moment in literary and cultural history It is associated with the emergence of intriguing figures such as the new woman and uranian with contradictory impulses of decadence and decay on the one hand and of experiment and renewal on the other as well as with unprecedented intercultural exchange especially between Britain and France The 22 newly commissioned essays collected here re examine some of the key concepts taken to define the fin de si cle while also introducing hitherto overlooked cultural phenomena into the frame such as the importance of humanitarianism The impact of recent research in material culture is explored particularly how the history of the book and the history of performance culture is changing our understanding of this period A wide range of cultural activities is discussed from participation in

avant garde theatre to interior decoration and from the writing of poetry to political and religious activism Together the essays provide new scholarly insights into British fin de siècle and enrich our understanding of this complex period while paying particular attention to the importance of regionalism Ascendancy and Tradition in Anglo-Irish Literary History from 1789 to 1939 W.
