Ozigboh,1988 Colonial Justice and Decolonization in the High Court of Tanzania, 1920-1971 Ellen R. Feingold,2018-02-09

This book is the first study of the development and decolonization of a British colonial high court in Africa It traces the history of the High Court of Tanzania from its establishment in 1920 to the end of its institutional process of decolonization in 1971 This process involved disentangling the High Court from colonial state structures and imperial systems that were built on racial inequality while simultaneously increasing the independence of the judiciary and application of British judicial principles Feingold weaves together the rich history of the Court with a discussion of its judges both as members of the British Colonial Legal Service and as individuals to explore the impacts and intersections of imperial policies national politics and individual initiative Colonial Justice and Decolonization in the High Court of Tanzania is a powerful reminder of the crucial roles played by common law courts in the operation and legitimization of both colonial and post colonial states

Comparative and International Criminal Justice Systems Dale June,2013-05-13 Comparative and International Criminal Justice Systems Policing Judiciary and Corrections Third Edition examines the history dynamics structure organization and processes in the criminal justice systems in a number of selected countries Designed for courses in comparative criminal justice systems comparative criminology and international Imperial Justice Bonny Ibhawoh,2013-10-03 Imperial Justice explores the imperial control of judicial governance and the adjudication of colonial difference in British Africa Focusing on the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council and the colonial regional Appeal Courts for West Africa and East Africa it examines how judicial discourses of native difference and imperial universalism in local disputes influenced practices of power in colonial settings and shaped an evolving jurisprudence of Empire Arguing that the Imperial Appeal Courts were key sites where colonial legal modernity was fashioned the book examines the tensions that permeated the colonial legal system such as the difficulty of upholding basic standards of British justice while at the same time allowing for local customary divergence which was thought essential to achieving that justice The modernizing mission of British justice could only truly be achieved through recognition of local exceptionality and difference Natives who appealed to the Courts of Empire were entitled to the same standards of justice as their civilized colonists yet the boundaries of racial ethnic and cultural difference somehow had to be recognized and maintained in the adjudicatory process Meeting these divergent goals required flexibility in colonial law making as well as in the administration of justice In the paradox of integration and differentiation imperial power and local cultures were not always in conflict but were sometimes complementary and mutually reinforcing The book draws attention not only to the role of Imperial Appeal Courts in the colonies but also to the reciprocal place of colonized peoples in shaping the processes and outcomes of imperial justice A valuable addition to British colonial literature this book places Africa in a central role and examines the role of the African colonies in the shaping of British Imperial jurisprudence
