Instructional-design

Theories and Models Charles M. Reigeluth,2013-05-13 Instructional theory describes a variety of methods of instruction different ways of facilitating human learning and development and when to use and not use each of those methods It is about how to help people learn better This volume provides a concise summary of a broad sampling of new methods of instruction currently under development helps show the interrelationships among these diverse theories and highlights current issues and trends in instructional design It is a sequel to Instructional Design Theories and Models An Overview of Their Current Status which provided a snapshot in time of the status of instructional theory in the early 1980s Dramatic changes in the nature of instructional theory have occurred since then partly in response to advances in knowledge about the human brain and learning theory partly due to shifts in educational philosophies and beliefs and partly in response to advances in information technologies These changes have made new methods of instruction not only possible but also necessary in order to take advantage of new instructional capabilities offered by the new technologies These changes are so dramatic that many argue they constitute a new paradigm of instruction which requires a new paradigm of instructional theory In short there is a clear need for this Volume II of Instructional Design Theories and Models To attain the broad sampling of methods and theories it presents and to make this book more useful for practitioners as well as graduate students interested in education and training this volume contains twice as many chapters but each half as long as the ones in Volume I and the descriptions are generally less technical Several unique features are provided by the editor to help readers understand and compare the theories in this book Chapter 1 which discusses the characteristics of instructional theory and the nature of the new paradigm of instruction helps the reader identify commonalities across the theories Chapter forewords which summarize the major elements of the instructional design theories are useful for reviewing and comparing theories as well as for previewing a theory to decide if it is of interest and for developing a general schema that will make it easier to understand Editor s notes provide additional help in understanding and comparing the theories and the new paradigm of instruction to which they belong Units 2 and 4 have introductory chapters to help readers analyze and understand the theories in those units This is an essential book for anyone interested in exploring new approaches to fostering human learning and development and thinking creatively about ways to best meet the needs of learners in all kinds of learning contexts Readers are invited to use Dr Charles Reigeluth s Web site to comment and to view others comments about the instructional design theories in this book as well as other theories Point your browser to www.indiana.edu/idtheory Life and Moral Education in Greater China John Chi-Kin Lee,Stephen Yam-wing Yip,Raymond Ho-Man Kong,2021-03-29 Arguing for life moral and values education as a bedrock for the original goals of school education this monograph explores how life and values education is conceptualised and imparted in Greater China Under a globalized transnational and technological world where there has been an increase in people s mobility in information and cultural exchanges there is also a growing emphasis on personal and professional ethics Against this context life moral and values education has gained attention for its impact on shaping students characters as future citizens However the cultivation of these values is made deeply diversified and complex by varying interpretations of life education and values education across societies given that different societies are influenced by different socio cultural traditions educational ideologies and religious beliefs The means and approaches towards life education also vary vastly from formal school subjects school based programmes as well as teachers and peers role modelling community services extra curricular activities school discipline charity work pastoral care and school ethos Recognising this inherent diversity and complexity in the approach to and the dissemination of life education the contributors to this volume survey the practice of life education in Greater China so far suggesting that life education is most effective when it is diversified dynamic and developmental across contexts This book will provide the opportunity for engaging in important and serious debates about the future and the values that will underpin it and will prove of special interest to scholars and practitioners working on education policies curriculum development and teacher education in Greater China Resources in Education ,2001-10
