A Companion to Old and Middle English Literature Laura Lambdin, Robert Thomas Lambdin, 2002-06-30 Old and Middle English literature can be obscure and challenging So too can the vast body of criticism it has elicited Yet the masters of medieval literature often drew on similar texts since imitation was admired For this reason recent scholarship has often focused on the importance of genre The genre in which a work was written can illuminate the author's intentions and the text's meaning Read in light of a genre's parameters a given work can be considered in relation to other works within the same category This reference is a comprehensive overview of Old and Middle English literature Chapters focus on particular genres such as Allegorical Verse Balladry Beast Fable Chronicle Debate Poetry Epic and Heroic Lyric Middle English Parody Burlesque Religious and Allegorical Verse and Romance Expert contributors define the primary characteristics of each genre and discuss relevant literary works Chapters provide extensive reviews of scholarship and close with detailed bibliographies A more thorough bibliography of major scholarly studies closes the book      Contradictions: From Beowulf to Chaucer

Theodore M. Andersson, 2016-12-05 This volume brings together a series of key essays by Larry D Benson well known for his work in editing the Riverside Chaucer Of the studies selected the opening three deal with Old English recasting the possibilities for the critical study of Beowulf above all the relation between oral and written literary production The following ten essays turn to Middle English literature with the focus first on Chaucer and the evolution of his works and his language then on the social and cultural context of medieval chivalric texts Throughout Professor Benson approaches his subjects with a skeptical intent even a seeming contrariness in seeking to contradict received views but in fact with the purpose of questioning in order to understand more deeply Scattered in their original publications and with one hitherto unpublished together these studies present a powerful argument for this questioning approach to fundamental issues and constitute a major contribution to the study of the literary and cultural history of the medieval world

Larry D Benson is Francis Lee Higginson Professor of English Harvard University      Studies and Notes in Philology and Literature William Allan Neilson, 1899      Studies in the Age of Chaucer, 1995      The Idea of the Labyrinth from Classical Antiquity through the Middle Ages Penelope Reed Doob, 2019-03-15

Ancient and medieval labyrinths embody paradox according to Penelope Reed Doob Their structure allows a double perspective the baffling fragmented prospect confronting the maze treader within and the comprehensive vision available to those without Mazes simultaneously assert order and chaos artistry and confusion articulated clarity and bewildering complexity perfected pattern and hesitant process In this handsomely illustrated book Doob reconstructs from a variety of literary and visual sources the idea of the labyrinth from the classical period through the Middle Ages Doob first examines several complementary traditions of the maze topos showing how ancient historical and geographical writings generate metaphors in which the labyrinth signifies admirable complexity while poetic texts tend to suggest that the labyrinth is a sign of moral duplicity She then describes two common models of the labyrinth and explores their formal implications the unicursal model with no false turnings found almost universally in the visual arts and the multicursal model with blind alleys and dead ends characteristic of literary texts This paradigmatic clash between the labyrinths of art and of literature becomes a key to the metaphorical potential of the maze as Doob's examination of a vast array of materials from the classical period through the Middle Ages suggests She concludes with linked readings of four labyrinths of words Virgil's Aeneid Boethius Consolation of Philosophy Dante's Divine Comedy and Chaucer's House of Fame each of which plays with and transforms received ideas of the labyrinth as well as reflecting and responding to aspects of the texts that influenced it Doob not only provides fresh theoretical and historical perspectives on the labyrinth tradition but also portrays a complex medieval aesthetic that helps us to approach structurally elaborate early works Readers in such fields as Classical literature Medieval Studies Renaissance Studies comparative literature literary theory art history and intellectual history will welcome this wide ranging and illuminating book

Henderson, 2017-12-31 Shakespeare Studies is an annual volume featuring the work of scholars critics and cultural historians from across the globe This issue includes a Forum on the drama of the 1580s from eleven contributors a Next Gen Plenary from four contributors three articles and reviews of sixteen books

Chaucer's "legal Fiction" Mary Flowers Braswell, 2001 For centuries Chaucer has been associated with law This study however is concerned less with the overt in Chaucer that concerns law than with the concealed and private a specific body of materials records from the medieval English law courts that the poet evidently read studied discussed with colleagues and then threaded into his texts This book examines the effects of those documents on the so called minor poems The House of Fame and The Canterbury Tales

Chaucer and Dissimilarity John J. McGavin, 2000 It looks out in a groundbreaking study to the use of similes in other late medieval poems

BOOK JACKET     Studies in the Age of Chaucer Thomas Heffernan, 2003-12-15 Studies in the Age of Chaucer is the annual yearbook of the New Chaucer Society publishing articles on the writing of Chaucer and his contemporaries their antecedents and successors and their intellectual and social contexts More generally articles explore the culture and writing of later medieval Britain 1200 1500 Each SAC volume also includes an annotated bibliography and reviews of Chaucer related publications     Studies in Philology ,1953     Studies in Chaucer's Words Masahiko Kanno,1996     The Journal of Medieval and Renaissance Studies ,1993     Chaucer and Fame Isabel Davis, Catherine Nall, 2015 Fame or fama is a central concern of late medieval literature Where fama came from who deserved it whether it was desirable how it was acquired and kept were significant inquiries for a culture that relied extensively on personal credit and reputation An interest in fama was not new being inherited from the classical world but was renewed and rethought within the vernacular revolutions of the later Middle Ages The work of Geoffrey Chaucer shows a preoccupation with ideas on the subject of fama not only those received from the classical world but also those of his near contemporaries via an engagement with their texts he aimed to negotiate a place for his own work in the literary canon establishing fama as the subject site at which literary theory was contested and writerly reputation won Chaucer's place in these negotiations was readily recognized in his aftermath as later writers adopted and reworked postures which Chaucer had struck in their own bids for literary place This volume considers the debates on fama which were past present and future to Chaucer using his work as a centre point to investigate canon formation in European literature from the late Middle Ages and into the Early Modern period Isabel Davis is Senior Lecturer in Medieval Literature at Birkbeck University of London Catherine Nall is Senior Lecturer in Medieval Literature at Royal Holloway University of London Contributors Joanna Bellis Alcuin Blamires Julia Boffey Isabel Davis Stephanie Downes A S G Edwards Jamie C Fumo Andrew Galloway Nick Havely Thomas A Prendergast Mike Rodman Jones William T Rossiter Elizaveta Strakhov     The Cambridge Ms (University Library, Gg. 4.27) of Chaucer's Canterbury Tales Geoffrey Chaucer, 1879     Oxford essays, by members of the University Oxford essays, 1855     Spenser for Home and School Edmund Spenser, 1883
