Fellow Creatures Christine M. Korsgaard, 2018-06-18 Christine M

Korsgaard presents a compelling new view of humans moral relationships to the other animals She defends the claim that we are obligated to treat all sentient beings as what Kant called ends in themselves Drawing on a theory of the good derived from Aristotle she offers an explanation of why animals are the sorts of beings for whom things can be good or bad She then turns to Kant s argument for the value of humanity to show that rationality commits us to claiming the standing of ends in ourselves in two senses Kant argued that as autonomous beings we claim to be ends in ourselves when we claim the standing to make laws for ourselves and each other Korsgaard argues that as beings who have a good we also claim to be ends in ourselves when we take the things that are good for us to be good absolutely and so worthy of pursuit The first claim commits us to joining with other autonomous beings in relations of moral reciprocity The second claim commits us to treating the good of every sentient creature as something of absolute importance Korsgaard argues that human beings are not more important than the other animals that our moral nature does not make us superior to the other animals and that our unique capacities do not make us better off than the other animals She criticizes the marginal cases argument and advances a new view of moral standing as attaching to the atemporal subjects of lives She criticizes Kant s own view that our duties to animals are indirect and offers a non utilitarian account of the relation between pleasure and the good She also addresses a number of directly practical questions whether we have the right to eat animals experiment on them make them work for us and fight in our wars and keep them as pets and how to understand the wrong that we do when we cause a species to go extinct

[Continued as] Chambers's Journal of popular literature, science and arts Chambers's journal, 1899 The life and adventures of Valentine Vox, the ventriloquist Henry Cockton, 1882 The Dog Who Couldn't Stop Loving Jeffrey Moussaieff Masson, 2010-10-05 From the New York Times bestselling author of When Elephants Weep a fascinating exploration of the unique relationship between humans and canines. Booklist Animal lovers get ready! Jeffrey Moussaieff Masson international bestselling author of the winning and wise Dogs Never Lie About Love San Francisco Chronicle is back with an inspiring heart warming and deeply personal exploration of the unique relationship between humans and dogs. As in When Elephants Weep The Face on Your Plate and The Pig Who Sang to the Moon Masson blends cultural mythology, scientific research and stories of his own experiences to tackle deep questions about the emotional lives of humans and animals. His compelling elegant and often humorous narrative about the love people feel for dogs gives a new perspective on the extraordinary relationship between our species. Masson is at his most personal and appealing in this book especially when he writes about Benjy. There is a conflict between the rational and irrational behaviours exhibited by managers and it is these characteristics which Sjostrand takes as his starting point for the book Confidence- and Security-Building Measures in Europe Carl C. Krehbiel, 1989-10-11 This volume examines in detail the major proposals for confidence and security building measures that were made at the Conference on Disarmament in Europe CDE held in Stockholm during 1984-86 The CDE produced an historic agreement which included the first provision ever negotiated for on site inspection on demand Focusing on major proposals made by NATO the Warsaw Pact and the neutral and non aligned nations the author also evaluates the effects if adopted these measures would have in the real world Providing a unique insider's account of positions taken he lets the reader draw conclusions about the actual goals of each of the participating groups reduction of military tensions or propaganda This book gives the reader an insider's view of a major international security negotiation and unique insight into the positions of participating nations Some view the act of reaching agreement as the most significant aspect of the Stockholm Conference According to this author it is in fact the content of the CDE agreement that matters Following a brief review of the background to the CDE Krehbiel concentrates on a detailed analysis of the major proposals in the areas of notification information observation constraints and verification The final two chapters evaluate the resulting agreement its strengths and weaknesses and its potential to accomplish CDE goals The book concludes with a brief assessment of its implementation
