Access to Public Sector Information Brian F. Fitzgerald, 2010 On the back of the growing capacity of networked digital information technologies to process and visualise large amounts of information in a timely efficient and user driven manner we have seen an increasing demand for better access to and re use of public sector information The story is not a new one Share knowledge and together we can do great things limit access and we reduce the potential for opportunity The two volumes of this book seek to explain and analyse the global shift in the way we manage public sector information In doing so they collect and present papers reports and submissions on the topic by the leading authors and institutions from across the world These provide people tasked with mapping out and implementing information policy with reference material and practical guidance Volume 2 presents a selection of the key reports and submissions that have been published over the last few years The volumes are sold separately and as a set

Second National Economic Empowerment and Development Strategy (2008-2011) ,2008

World Development Report 2008 World Bank, 2007-10-15 The world s demand for food is expected to double within the next 50 years while the natural resources that sustain agriculture will become increasingly scarce degraded and vulnerable to the effects of climate change In many poor countries agriculture accounts for at least 40 percent of GDP and 80 percent of employment At the same time about 70 percent of the world s poor live in rural areas and most depend on agriculture for their livelihoods World Development Report 2008 seeks to assess where when and how agriculture can be an effective instrument for economic development especially development that favors the poor It examines several broad questions How has agriculture changed in developing countries in the past 20 years What are the important new challenges and opportunities for agriculture Which new sources of agricultural growth can be captured cost effectively in particular in poor countries with large agricultural sectors as in Africa How can agricultural growth be made more effective for poverty reduction How can governments facilitate the transition of large populations out of agriculture without simply transferring the burden of rural poverty to urban areas How can the natural resource endowment for agriculture be protected How can agriculture s negative environmental effects be contained This year s report marks the 30th year the World Bank has been publishing the World Development Report Parliamentary Debates (Hansard).
