Kalman Lamb and Derek Silva offer an existential challenge to one of America s favorite pastimes college football Drawing on twenty five in depth interviews with former players from some of the country s most prominent college football teams Kalman Lamb and Silva explore how football is both predicated on a foundation of coercion and suffused with racialized harm and exploitation Through the stories of those who lived it the authors examine the ways in which college football must be understood as a site of harm revealing how players are systematically denied the economic value they produce for universities and offered only a devalued education in return By illuminating the plantation dynamics that make college football a particularly racialized form of exploitation the book makes legible the forms of physical sacrifice that are required the ultimate cost in health and well being and the coercion that drives players into the sport and compels them to endure such abusive conditions Current Literature ,1891 Studies in Statistics, Social, Political, and Medical George Blundell Longstaff,1891 Engineering Magazine ,1893 The Eclectic Magazine of Foreign Literature, Science, and Art ,1892 The American Friend ,1900 Journal of the Statistical Society of London ,1881 The Contemporary Review ,1892 A Compendium of the World's Food Production and Consumption C.
