Kriz,2001-08-28 At the start of the new millennium mankind is challenged by a paradox the more we know about the world the more uncertain we become in understanding and predicting how it works This book presents an outline of a new basis for Systems Science and a methodology for its application in complex environmental economic social and technological systems The Incentivised University Seán Mfundza Muller,2022-01-24 The core thesis of this book is that to understand the implications of incentive structures in modern higher education we require a deeper understanding of associated issues in the philosophy of science Significant public and philanthropic resources are directed towards various forms of research in the hope of addressing key societal problems That view and the associated allocation of resources relies on the assumption that academic research will tend towards finding truth or at least selecting the best approximations of it The present book builds on and extends contributions in philosophy and higher education to argue that this assumption is misplaced with serious implications for modern higher education and its role in informing societal decisions and government policy The book develops a philosophical foundation for the analysis of the connection between higher education incentives scientific progress and societal outcomes That in turn is used to demonstrate how the current approach to incentivising intellectual and scientific progress is likely not only to fail but in fact to cause harm on the very dimensions it purports to improve The arguments presented are illustrated with examples from medicine and academic economics making the book one of the first to examine issues of scientific progress and social consequences across the human and social sciences In doing so it develops a novel critique of modern economics that in turn provides a more philosophically substantive foundation for popular critiques of economics than has existed to date Global Perspectives on Building Resilience for Sustainable Rural Development Yuheng Li,2025-10-31 The book brings together rural scholars from the Global North and the Global South who have contributed chapters based on their own contexts The book aims to provide a general picture of how rural communities are responding to challenges in a global context This general picture can be presented through three specific research questions namely 1 What is the socio economic status of rural development in the country This research question tends to explore the socio economic status of rural development in the contributor s country or in the country of study It highlights the challenges to sustainable rural development in the country 2 How are rural communities responding to these challenges This research question focuses on analysing how rural communities are responding to challenges such as depopulation spatial compression economic marginalisation and climate change 3 How can rural resilience to risks and future challenges be built This research question aims to discuss possible approaches and actions to build rural resilience to current challenges and to seek transformation to better cope with and adapt to future challenges and unexpected risks The target audience of this book is researchers postgraduate students and government officials in the field of rural and agricultural development Readers can expect to gain a basic knowledge of rural resilience a deeper understanding of rural
