Social Indicators Of Well Being:

Social Indicators of Well-Being Frank M. Andrews, Stephen B. Withey, 2012-12-06 This is a study about perceptions of well being Its purpose is to investigate how these perceptions are organized in the minds of different groups of American adults to find valid and efficient ways of measuring these perceptions to suggest ways these measurement methods could be implemented to yield a series of social indicators and to provide some initial readings on these indicators i e some information about the levels of well being perceived by Americans The findings are based on data from more than five thousand Americans and include results from four separate representative samplings of the American population One of the ways our research is unusual is that it includes a major methodological component Typical surveys involve a modest effort at instrument development the application of the instrument to a group of respondents and an analysis of the resulting data that mainly describes the people studied Our work however was implemented in a series of sequential cycles each of which consisted of conceptual development instrument design data collection analysis and interpretation Ideas and findings generated in prior cycles affected the design of subsequent cycles

Social Indicators of Well-being Frank M. Andrews,1976 A composite index of quality of life for the Gauteng city-region: a principal component analysis approach Talita Greyling, The improvement of the quality of life of all South Africans is high on the agenda at national The National Planning Commission 2012 and regional levels of government The Gauteng Planning Commission 2012 and it is therefore important to develop an instrument that can measure this multi dimensional concept The need therefore exists for a composite index of quality of life with the ability to both track the quality of life of people over time and compare it across different demographic and socio economic groups Such a measure could identify those demographic and socio economic groups with low levels of quality of life and also highlight dimensions that need to be prioritised in order to improve the wellbeing of people In South Africa there are a limited number of quality of life indices and measures of wellbeing Indices that measure wellbeing nationally include the Quality of Life Index of Moller and Schlemmer 1983 the Living Standard Measure LSM Index produced by the South African Audience Research Foundation SAARF 2013 the South African Development Index of the South African Institute of Race Relations 2011 and the Everyday Quality of Life Index Higgs 2007 The following indices measure wellbeing at a regional level the Quality of Metropolitan City Life in South Africa Index Naude et al 2009 the Non Economic Quality of Life Index at Sub National Levels Rossouw Naude 2008 and the Quality of Life Index of the Gauteng City Region Observatory GCRO 2011 Although these quality of life indices make distinctive contributions to the study field the focus of these studies is often to measure only objective or subjective quality of life or only economic or non economic quality of life rather than all of the above Furthermore many of the indices use equal weighting which does not necessarily reflect the priorities of the communities
