Kaye, 2005 This groundbreaking new book in the field of ageing and gerontological social work fills a major gap in social work literature by debunking the myth that older people are less productive than younger ones It highlights the assets resources capacities and skills of older people and expands our professional perspective toward the ageing experience and the roles and functions social workers can legitimately assume in work with the elderly Fostering Social Work Gerontology Competence Catherine J. Tompkins, Anita L. Rosen, 2013-12-19 Inspire the next generation of gerontological social workers The growing number of people over the age of 65 in the United States has increased the demand for social workers who are trained to work with the elderly a demand that s in danger of not being met Fostering Social Work Gerontology Competence presents innovative techniques and strategies to help educators infuse aging content into their graduate and undergraduate curriculums in an effort to produce a new generation of social work practitioners who are up to the task of working with an older population

Recent surveys show that there has been a decline in the number of aging specialties and courses offered by schools of social work. Fostering Social Work Gerontology Competence offers a renewed focus on the promotion of gerontological social work education presenting papers that grew out of the first National Gerontological Social Work Conference NGSWC held in 2003. This unique book is invaluable to anyone who educates future social workers, leads staff training sessions and/or teaches continuing education courses on aging. Leading gerontologists examine teaching research, community collaboration and social work competencies while focusing on special populations and issues including end of life care, elder abuse, grief counseling, cultural diversity, cultural competence and the effects of spirituality and social support on the well being of the elderly. Fostering Social Work Gerontology Competence examines curricular and organizational change, developing intergenerational projects involving older persons in the educational process, uniting field practice with theory, strategies to promote student interest, identifying geriatric competencies, intergenerational service learning, developing an aging prepared community, emerging trends in aging and health care, end of life care and death education, environmental issues affecting elder abuse victims, mental health services for older persons in rural communities, kinship care and much more. Fostering Social Work Gerontology Competence is a vital resource for social work educators and practitioners, gerontology educators and practitioners and students.

Social Work with the Aged and Their Families Roberta Rubin Greene, 2008. This volume provides solutions to those coping with the needs of an aging population. Among the topics addressed are assessment of the aging, taking into account biological age, psychological age and socio cultural and spiritual age. The author also considers the importance of the family system, family roles and development, functional age, individual and family intervention and group and community interventions. She proposes to achieve a successful aging philosophy by selecting direct practice interventions including preventive and psychoeducational strategies as well as family centered model.

Social Work in Health and Ageing Barbara Berkman, Daniel B. Kaplan, K. L. Sharma, 2015. In light of alarming predictions of the difficulties the world will face due to population ageing and with experts across the globe highlighting the benefits of interdisciplinary practice and multidisciplinary considerations for health and ageing, this book is both timely and telling. The fields of healthcare, ageing and social work are often treated as discrete entities while all social workers deal with issues of health and ageing on a daily basis regardless of practice specialization. The book contains contributions by experienced and prominent scholars of gerontology. It provides social workers with knowledge of evidence based practice guidelines for effectively assessing and treating older adults and supporting their families. The book paints a rich portrait of a variety of populations that social workers serve followed by detailed recommendations of best practices for an array of physical and mental health conditions.

Social Work with Older People Ann McDonald,2010-03-08 Social Work with Older People provides an authoritative and practical guide to working with older people in a range of settings It addresses the complexities of individual work with older people as well as work with families groups and the wider community and is not afraid to tackle the challenges as well as opportunities of practice in this area The book begins by explaining the demographic changes that have led to a greying of the general population It goes on to discuss the diversity in experiences of ageing across society and the range of issues which confront older people and those who wish to work proactively with them Clear attention is paid to the processes of assessment care planning and review with readers encouraged to reflect on developing good practice through case studies and exercises Although it has a strong practical emphasis the book also stresses the value of theoretical perspectives with insights from fields such as sociology and psychology woven throughout the book Clear links are also made to policy guidelines and organizational standards without losing sight of the deeper often more complex issues that arise when working with older people Social Work with Older People will be essential reading for social work students and practitioners but also for others who are interested in the development of practice with older people as citizens and service users

Social Work Practice with Older People Rory Lynch,2013-11-13 Older people are the biggest service user group for social workers and an increasing proportion of the population In this refreshingly positive and practical textbook Rory Lynch draws on years of practice and teaching experience to show how to achieve best social work practice with older adults He takes a person centred approach which fosters respect by valuing the fact that elderly people have more lived experience than others Exploring the key theoretical approaches and methods of intervention this book helps social workers to identify understand and facilitate their service users wishes for well being and a fulfilling older age Chapters are practice driven containing case studies drawn from a range of care settings reflective questions and exercises Mapping directly onto the key modules on the social work degree this is essential reading for all student social workers especially as they prepare to go on their practice placement It is also valuable reading for qualified social workers Rory Lynch is Lecturer in Social Work at

Robert Gordon University Foundations of Social Work Practice in the Field of Aging Roberta Rubin Greene, 2007
The aging of societies is a global phenomenon In the United States alone the life expectancy for both men and women will continue to increase over the next few decades and with that a population explosion of older adults The dramatic increase in the number and diversity of older adults elevates the visibility of gerontological matters As a result social work practice is becoming more multigenerational thereby demanding social workers regardless of their professional endeavors to be equipped with the most innovative theories and practices to serve older adults and their families This comprehensive text spans the new knowledge and skills required in direct practice areas group work and macro practice It also outlines the Geriatric Social Work Competencies as developed by social work educators necessary to serve the older adult population and suggests how these competencies can be integrated into foundation curriculum Social work educators students practitioners administrators and policymakers will find updated useful information in this text regarding assessment tools cultural influences evidence based practices intervention techniques theoretical examples Individuals are living longer and healthier lives in part because of the extraordinary growth of biomedical knowledge and public health initiatives The confluence of the rapid and large increase of the older population and the exponential increase in the dissemination of knowledge create an imperative for social workers to employ the most recent knowledge in their practice with people living increasingly long lives
