Nicholas Godfrey,2018-05-10 The New Hollywood era of the late 1960s and early 1970s has become one of the most romanticized periods in motion picture history celebrated for its stylistic boldness thematic complexity and the unshackling of directorial ambition The Limits of Auteurism aims to challenge many of these assumptions Beginning with the commercial success of Easy Rider in 1969 and ending two years later with the critical and commercial failure of that film s twin progeny The Last Movie and The Hired Hand Nicholas Godfrey surveys a key moment that defined the subsequent aesthetic parameters of American commercial art cinema The book explores the role that contemporary critics played in determining how the movies of this period were understood and how in turn strategies of distribution influenced critical responses and dictated the conditions of entry into the rapidly codifying New Hollywood canon Focusing on a small number of industrially significant films this new history advances our understanding of this important moment of transition from Classical to contemporary modes of production The FRENCH Connection ,2003 The French Connection & French Connection 2 ,2008 French Connection II Robin Moore,Milt Machlin,1975 Popeye Doyle was a long way from the New York scene he knew so well He didn t speak the language He didn t know the ropes He didn t have a man or woman he could trust He just had a hunch he was being played for a sucker again by the same Frenchman who had foisted him in New York He just had an itch to turn Marseilles upside down until he found Charnier and turned the French connection off for good Get ready for a wild ride in an adventure torn from the headlines Page 1 French connection Robin Moore,1979 Drug Enforcement ,1981 The French Connection Neville Weston,1998 French Connection II Alexander Jacobs,1974
