Security in the 21st century: US and European responses to global terrorism Patrick Wagner, 2004-10-02 Master's Thesis from the year 2004 in the subject Politics Topic Peace and Conflict Security grade 2 B University of Kent Brussels School of International Studies language English abstract Although the world stood united behind America when the dust of the collapsed twin towers of the World Trade Centre settled differences between the United States and Europe soon became apparent Europe might have supported the US in Afghanistan both politically and militarily but diverging interests already became apparent when the US sidelined NATO and preferred to lead Operation Enduring Freedom itself The dispute escalated over the US plans to continue the war on terror in Iraq Here it emerged that the US and Europe do not share the same world view While the US seem to perceive the world in Hobbesian terms and believe that military strength is the only means to achieve security Europe appears to understand security in the Kantian sense and believes that perpetual peace can be achieved The question that divided Europe and the US over Iraq then is more than a simple difference of opinion but reflects a deep philosophical division Can global security be achieved by force or through sustained dedication to a set of normative principles implemented by the world community Consequently the counterterrorism strategies formulated in Europe and the US are of a fundamentally different nature which cannot be explained merely by the discrepancy in military capabilities If that would be the case Europe would have begun to build up its military potential by now Acknowledging that terrorism has become one of the most pressing political problems David Whittaker the aim of this paper is to compare the US and the European approach to global terrorism establish reasons for the differences and evaluate which approach might be more effective As September 11 has changed our perception of security by demonstrating that even the US is despite its unrivalled military superiority vulnerable to attack carried out by just 19 men armed with cardboard cutters we should remain aware that the responses we chose to these attacks reflect our dedication to human rights the rule of law and indeed freedom Relying on military strength is easier than to acknowledge that terrorism is caused by a fundamentally unjust economical and political world order that markedly favours the West yet it might ultimately prove to become more dangerous than terrorism itself as it does nothing to resolve the problem but reinforces the world order that is the cause of the problem

The ... Annual on Terrorism ,1990 The Heath Reader Boyd Litzinger,1990 Terrorism Roger W. The Reader's Handbook of Allusions, References, Plots and Stories Ebenezer Cobham Brewer,1881 Terrorism David Whittaker,2013-09-13 What is terrorism and where does it come from Who are the people who perpetrate terror What are their motives Terrorism is now everybody s major and constant fear This easy to read concise account of terrorism provides the essential global guide to understanding what the threat is and exactly where it comes from Without this knowledge argues David Whittaker there can be no way forward in prevention and control The book looks in particular at how terrorism has shaped and been shaped by the past half century the driving forces behind it the methods the psychology and the money Originally written in the aftermath of September 11 the book has now been updated to reflect how our understanding of and reaction to terrorism has moved on in the past few years The Where to Find Out More section at the end will also be thoroughly updated to include recent websites and publications on the subject
