The Human Situation William Macneile Dixon,1946 The Human Situation W. M. Dixon,1946 The Human Situation Harvey Jackins,1991-01-01 The Human Situation W. Macneile Dixon,1981-09 The Human Situation William Macneile Dixon,1964 The Human Situation William Macneile Dixon,1937 An Analysis of Mahbub Ul Haq's Reflections on Human Development Riley Quinn,2017-07-05 What is the ultimate goal of any human society There have been many answers to this question But by producing a series of notably well structured arguments economist Mahbub ul Haq s Reflections on Human Development persuaded readers that the goal should be defined quite simply as the requirement that each society improve the lives of its citizens If this is the agreed aim Haq continues then economic development should be designed to support human development His well structured reasoning helped development economists recalibrate much of what had previously been regarded as self evident that economic productivity was the main barometer of social well being The work had a profound effect and Haq s thinking helped produce a new understanding of what development actually meant Haq conscientiously mapped out arguments and counter arguments to persuade readers that development did not simply mean an increase in productivity but rather an increase in human development the capability of people to live the lives they want to By bringing the abstract back to the concrete Haq reevaluated the neoliberal reasoning that suggested economic development necessarily benefitted everybody And by virtue of his strong command of reasoning Haq showed how economic development provided no guarantees that rich people would spend money on improving health education or other human development outcomes for the poor The Human Situation, Etc William Macneile Dixon,1958 The Human Situation William Macneile Dixon,1950 The Human Situation William Macneile Dixon,1941 The human situation, by w. macneile dixon W. macneile Dixon,1938 The Human Situation William Macneile Dixon,1944 New Perspectives on Human Development Nancy Budwig,Elliott Turiel,Philip David Zelazo,2017-04-17 Developmental theorists have struggled with defining the relations among biology psychology and sociocultural context often reducing psychological functions of a person to either biological functioning or the role of sociocultural context nature or nurture and considering each area of human development separately New Perspectives on Human Development addresses fundamental questions of development with a unified approach It encompasses theory and research on cognitive social and moral and language and communicative development in various stages of life and explores interdisciplinary perspectives New Perspectives on Human Development revisits old questions and applies original empirical findings offering new directions for future research in the field Democracy and Development R.C. Bhardwaj,K. Vijayakrishnan,2018-10-26 Published in 1998 The question of whether democracy and development are allies or adversaries has long been debated and with the triumph of the democratic spirit worldwide the relationship between democracy and development has once again come to attract much attention globally The collapse of the Soviet Union and the developments in Eastern Europe led to considerable rethinking in political circles on the efficacy of the economic policies pursued in those countries and the long term viability of political systems prevalent there Elsewhere several newly industrialized countries are striving to consolidate their gains though there are differing perceptions of whether their politics conform to the classical framework of democracy or not In a remarkable turn around some other countries have initiated measures for economic reforms and structural adjustment setting aside their earlier approaches towards economic management In short the last decades of this millennium have witnessed meaningful efforts worldwide on forging a new partnership between democracy and development In February 1996 the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association jointly organized a conference entitled Parliamentary Democracy and Development Allies or Adversaries with the Wilton Park an international agency of the British Commonwealth and Foreign Office in Wilton House West Sussex United Kingdom The week long conference brought together parliamentarians diplomats administrators political scientists economists and specialists from all over the world The participants shared their views and experiences on diverse aspects of the main theme This publication presents an essentially parliamentary perspective on the correlation between democracy and development based on the discussions at the Wilton Park conference and in the light of current thinking on the subject matter

Human Issues in Translation Technology Dorothy Kenny,2017-01-12 Translation technologies are moulded by and impact upon humans in all sorts of ways This state of the art volume looks at translation technologies from the point of view of the human users as trainee professional or volunteer translators or as end users of translations produced by machines Covering technologies from machine translation to online collaborative platforms and practices from traditional translation to crowdsourced translation and subtitling this volume takes a critical stance questioning both utopian and dystopian visions of translation technology In eight chapters the authors propose ideas on how technologies can better serve translators and end users of translations The first four chapters explore how translators in various contexts and with widely differing profiles use and feel about translation technologies as they currently stand while the second four chapters focus on the future on anticipating needs identifying emerging possibilities and defining interventions that can help to shape translation practice and research Drawing on a range of theories from cognitive to social and psychological and with empirical evidence of what the technologization of the workplace means to translators Human Issues in Translation Technology is key reading for all those involved in translation and technology translation theory and translation research methods
