Angus,2001 This volume is a collection of thirty eight pieces unified by a combination of the playful primitive aesthetic of literary modernism with the anti authoritarian anarchist praxis of radical democratic politics This bipolar sensibility permeates the work of Jerry Zaslove to whom the book is dedicated Yet even if this sensibility pervades the book the ideas presented here are all animated by highly conflicting attempts to articulate rigorously the anarcho modernist stance its literary forms and its political implications and values In particular all the contributors explore the fundamental tension that defines our new century between bureaucratization and industrialization on the one hand and the critical and autonomous individual on the other The five sections of the work are The Industrialization of Culture Literature and Aesthetics Public Education and Literacy Human Rights and Politics and Anarchism and Friendship Whatever holds together the anarchist solidarity represented in this collection it isn t a principle a generality that is made to apply equally to all comers It s a particular relation an affinity that perhaps can be approached through thinking about friendship as a utopia of the near the particular and the concrete not as a system of generalities for all This guiding orientation is vital for the reconstruction of a critical theory adequate for our own time The contributors are all friends colleagues and collaborators of Jerry Zaslove many of whom such as Russell Jacoby Robin Blaser Wayne Burns Harvey Graff David Kettler Wolf Dieter Narr Jeff Wall and Heribert Adam are well established and widely recognized in their fields There are also many newer authors included here whose work is sure to become equally well known over time      Justice of the Peace and Local Government Review ,1853

in Montana and Wyoming is an unforgettable experience The unspoiled mountain scenery along the highway inspired famed news correspondent Charles Kuralt to label it America s most beautiful drive yet the story behind this engineering marvel is largely unknown It is an epic account of man versus nature to construct a road through unforgiving wilderness Built during the height of the Great Depression and rising 10 947 feet above sea level the Beartooth Highway sparked an economic boom in Red Lodge Cooke City and Yellowstone National Park Understandably it continues to leave a profound impression on people privileged to drive it Historian Jon Axline tells the exciting and colorful narrative behind the origins and construction of the Beartooth Highway    Report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction of the State of New York New York (State).
