Supplementary Lives In Some Manuscripts Of The Gilte Legende:

Supplementary Lives in Some Manuscripts of the Gilte Legende Richard Frederick Sanger Hamer, Vida Russell, 2000     Supplementary lives in some of the manuscripts of the Gilte Legende Early English Text Society, 2000     Supplementary Lives in Some Manuscripts of the Gilte Legende Vida Russell, Richard Hammer, 2000

Gilte Legende is mostly a close translation drawn out of Frensshe into Engliſshe in 1438 of Jean de Vignay's Legende Dorée of about 1333-40 itself a close translation of Jacobus de Voragine's Legenda Aurea completed about 1267. Of its eight surviving manuscripts three contain additions mostly of Lives of saints from or related to Britain many of them deversified from the South English Legendary but with some use of other sources. The twenty six lives include Thomas Becket Edmund of Abingdon Frideswide Edward the Confessor Erkenwald Augustine of Canterbury Brendan and Winifred. Also edited are an incomplete tract on What the church betokeneth explaining some of the symbolism of the church and its services and another detailing what indulgences were available to pilgrims in each of the churches in Rome.

Supplementary Lives in Some Manuscripts of the Gilte Legende Vida Russell, Richard Hamer, 2000     Eadmer of Canterbury: Lives and Miracles of Saints Oda, Dunstan, and Oswald Bernard J. Muir, Andrew J. Turner, 2006-04-06

This volume in Oxford Medieval Text contains Eadmer's Lives of Saints Oda Dunstan and Oswald as well as the Miracles of Dunstan and Oswald. These three English saints together with thelwold of Winchester were key figures in the Benedictine revival of the tenth century which saw a flowering of Anglo Saxon religious artistic and literary culture. Eadmer of Canterbury c 1060 c 1130 the secretary confidant and biographer of Saint Anselm Archbishop of Canterbury 1033-1109 was one of the most important historians and biographers in the period after the Norman Conquest. His works written in Latin look back constantly to the Anglo Saxon past while at the same time they accurately reflect the present day realities of the wider European society into which England had been forcibly integrated. Manuscripts of his Lives of the Saints circulated widely in both in England and France but apart from his Life of Anselm they have been little studied and have remained largely untranslated. The works newly edited and translated in this edition provide many insights into the wider political history of the pre and post Conquest periods as well as important evidence for the cults of the saints in Canterbury and Worcester.

The Cult of St Swithun Michael Lapidge, 2025-04-03

Torture and Brutality in Medieval Literature Larissa Tracy, 2015

A new look at the way in which medieval European literature depicts torture and brutality.

Gilte legende Jacobus (de Voragine), 2006     English Readers of Catholic Saints Judy Ann Ford, 2020-05-18

In 1484 William Caxton the first publisher of English language books issued The Golden Legend a translation of the most well known collection of saints lives in Europe. This study analyzes the molding of the Legenda aurea into a book that powerfully attracted the English market Modifications included not only illustrations and changes in the arrangement of chapters but also the addition of lives of British saints and translated excerpts from the Bible showing an appetite for vernacular scripture and stories about England's past The publication history of Caxton's Golden Legend reveals attitudes towards national identity and piety within the context of English print culture during the half century prior to the Henrician Reformation

Anthony Stockwell Garfield Edwards, 2008 This volume is published to mark the 500th anniversary of Henry VIII's accession It contains articles which examine a broad range of Tudor manuscripts produced between 1485 and 1603 These include examinations of various forms of regional manuscript production including those written in northern England and in Scotland Essays consider some of the different kinds of manuscripts written in London during this period some of them of complex and unusual kinds Additionally specific figures or genres are studied of Thomas Wyatt's poetical manuscripts and the circulations of romances Jacket      Journal of the Early Book Society Vol 7 Martha W Driver, 2004-06 The Journal of the Early Book

Society publishes several substantial articles in each volume with emphasis on the period of transition from manuscript to print      A Critical Edition of John Mirk's Festial, Edited from British Library MS Cotton Claudius A.II John

Mirk, Susan Powell, 2009 The Festial most probably composed in the late 1380s by the Augustinian canon John Mirk of Lilleshall Abbey Shropshire was the most popular and influential collection of sermons in English in the late medieval and early Tudor period surviving in many copies and printed by Caxton and his successors The collection was designed to be accessible and entertaining as well as orthodox to counter the success of Lollard preaching and taught both the priests who used the sermons as well as their audiences the fundamentals of the Christian faith and doctrine illustrated by many stories The Festial is the only English sermon collection to be printed in England before the Reformation and is probably the most frequently printed work of its time before religious change made it unacceptable This new edition in two volumes with full editorial apparatus supersedes the incomplete EETS edition by Theodor Erbe E S 96 1905 Volume 1 contains the

Introduction and the first half of the text Volume 2 to be published in 2010 will contain the remainder of the text Explanatory Notes and Glossary      Caxton's Golden Legend Jacobus (de Voragine), 2020 This is volume I of the first scholarly edition of the Golden Legend the largest and most elaborate production of the first printer in English William Caxton It is an English translation of Jacobus de Voragine's Legenda aurea ca 1267 a collection of legends for the feasts of saints the Sanctorale and other major days of the liturgical year the Temporale The Legenda aurea was one of the most popular and influential books in the later medieval Western world it circulated widely and was repeatedly translated into many vernacular languages This volume reproduces Caxton's original text of the Temporale with modern punctuation and capitalization notes on content syntax and lexis a detailed glossary and an index of proper names Caxton's complex combination of sources is given particular attention the principal one was a little known reworking of the French translation made by Jean de Vignay but he also used the Latin original and a previous English translation the Gilte Legende and made some personal additions The Introduction considers the structure of the entire book that Caxton created but focuses on the Temporale and the set of Old Testament legends that will follow in volume 2 It discusses their sources and language highlighting the differences between the first two volumes and the notable number of new words and senses It also gives a detailed bibliographic account of this printing in its historical context and descriptions of all surviving copies      Sacred Demonization Thomas Lederer,2007

Virgins and Scholars Claire M. Waters,2008 This collection of prose vitae of four virgins and scholars Saints John the Baptist John the Evangelist Jerome and Katherine of Alexandria was almost certainly copied and the texts very likely composed at Syon Abbey or Sheen Charterhouse in the mid fifteenth century The lives cover a wide range of hagiographic modes from hagiographic romance to affective devotional appreciation to doctrinal treatise in narrative form From the life of Jerome composed by a monk for his aristocratic spiritual daughter to the life of Katherine reputedly translated for Henry V to those of John the Baptist and John the Evangelist which set their subjects in a recognizably Birgittine context they show the interaction of men and women lay and monastic in the production of devotional literature The diversity of their approaches and sources moreover shows the links between English dynastic politics and continental religious literature and spiritual traditions As examples of translation practices of monastic politics and of religious instruction these lives provide a window onto the devotional culture and literary worlds of fifteenth century Europe      Middle English Legends of Women Saints Sherry L. Reames,2003 Middle English Legends of Women Saints presents a collection of saints Lives intended to suggest the diversity of possibilities beneath the supposedly fixed and predictable surfaces of the legends using multiple retellings of the same legend to illustrate that medieval readers and listeners did not just passively receive saints legends but continually and actively appropriated them The collection opens with legends about two royal or supposedly royal women Frideswide and Mary Magdelen and continues with those of three popular virgin martyrs Margaret of Antioch Christina of Tyre and Katherine of Alexandria The final portion of the collection is devoted to St Anne mother of the Virgin Mary The collection includes a number of relatively unknown texts that have not appeared in print since Horstmann's transcriptions in the nineteenth century and a few that have never before been published      The Book Collector ,2004      Studies in Middle English Forms and Meanings Gabriella Mazzon,2007 The Volume contains written versions of some contributions to the Fifth International Conference on Middle English ICOME 5 held at the University of Naples in 2005 Most of the papers concentrate on individual aspects of grammar and semantics although some focus on dialectal fragmentation and others adopt a pragmatic perspective There is still a lot to be done in the study of the Middle English lexicon in the same way as there are many aspects of grammar that have not been fully studied yet The volume aims at providing contributions that can further the knowledge of these subfields of English historical linguistics through state of the art case studies that also exploit all modern resources such as computerised corpora and electronically tagged texts      A late fifteenth-century dominical
