CRISIS

Section: The Great Recession

After the housing bubble burst, the financial crisis took hold in 2008, threatening the stability of the economy and causing a collapse in the stock market. The Great Recession, also known as the Great Depression of the 21st century, caused a massive drop in home values and a rise in unemployment. The economy's slow growth and high inflation rates led to a severe recession in 2008, which lasted until 2010. The Great Recession was a global event, with many countries experiencing similar economic challenges. The recession was caused by a combination of factors, including the collapse of the housing market, the sub-prime mortgage crisis, and the collapse of the financial system. The recession had a significant impact on the economy, with many people losing their jobs and homes. The recession was a reminder of the fragility of the economy and the importance of financial stability.

Section: The Pandemic

On March 11, 2020, the World Health Organization declared the COVID-19 pandemic. The pandemic spread rapidly, with cases and deaths rising exponentially. The pandemic had a profound impact on the world, with many countries implementing strict lockdowns and travel restrictions. The pandemic also led to a significant economic downturn, with many businesses closing and people losing their jobs. The pandemic was a reminder of the fragility of the world and the importance of global cooperation.
