Jacques Joseph, Surgical Sculptor Paul Natvig, 1982      Making the Body Beautiful Sander L. Gilman, 1999

Nose reconstructions have been common in India for centuries South Korea Brazil and Israel have become international centers for procedures ranging from eyelid restructuring to buttock lifts and tummy tucks Argentina has the highest rate of silicone implants in the world Around the globe aesthetic surgery has become a cultural and medical fixture Sander Gilman seeks to explain why by presenting the first systematic world history and cultural theory of aesthetic surgery Touching on subjects as diverse as getting a nose job as a sweet sixteen birthday present and the removal of male breasts in seventh century Alexandria Gilman argues that aesthetic surgery has such universal appeal because it helps people to pass to be seen as a member of a group with which they want to or need to identify Gilman begins by addressing basic questions about the history of aesthetic surgery What surgical procedures have been performed Which are considered aesthetic and why Who are the patients What is the place of aesthetic surgery in modern culture He then turns his attention to that focus of countless human anxieties the nose Gilman discusses how people have reshaped their noses to repair the ravages of war and disease principally syphilis to match prevailing ideas of beauty and to avoid association with negative images of the Jew the Irish the Oriental or the Black He examines how we have used aesthetic surgery on almost every conceivable part of the body to try to pass as younger stronger thinner and more erotic Gilman also explores some of the extremes of surgery as personal transformation discussing transgender surgery adult circumcision and foreskin restoration the enhancement of dueling scars and even a performance artist who had herself altered to resemble the Mona Lisa The book draws on an extraordinary range of sources Gilman is as comfortable discussing Nietzsche Yeats and Darwin as he is grisly medical details Michael Jackson and Barbra Streisand's decision to keep her own nose The book contains dozens of arresting images of people before during and after surgery This is a profound provocative and engaging study of how humans have sought to change their lives by transforming their bodies

Europe and the United States now confront many of the same unresolved issues of nationalist religious racial and ethnic intolerance The book addresses the question How can the humanistic disciplines and social sciences play a role in a political transformation or address cultural difference This difference the other may be a racial ethnic gendered religious or colonial Other Contributors to this book focus on the serious political questions posed by the problems of strangeness the other in the present climate of accelerating social change and global shifts in political power      The Body Aesthetic Tobin Siebers, 2000

An Anthology of Plastic Surgery Harry Hayes, 1986      The Visibility of the Jew in the Diaspora Sander L. Gilman, 1992 Considers the problem of Jewish appearance as a source of aversion to Jews and also of Jewish self hatred Many writers in the past regarded racial traits of the Jews especially a Jewish nose as evidence of their sickness or degradation During the 1890s 1930s a German Jewish surgeon Joseph Jacobs called Jacques Joseph invented a surgical procedure cosmetic rhinoplasty to improve the form of the nose for Jews who wanted to conceal their Jewish origin His rhinoplasty proved to be popular also among ethnic groups in the USA in the 1940s 60s Contends that the wish to undergo such an operation indicates Jewish self hatred
