The Crocodile Hunter Greatest Crocodile Captures:

Nature's Saviours Graham Huggan, 2013-08-22 Today's celebrity conservationists many of whom made their reputations through television and other visual media play a major role in drawing public attention to an increasingly threatened world. This book, one of the first to address this contribution, focuses on five key figures: the English naturalist David Attenborough, the French marine adventurer Jacques-Yves Cousteau, the American primatologist Dian Fossey, the Canadian scientist-broadcaster activist David Suzuki, and the Australian crocodile hunter Steve Irwin. Some of the issues the author addresses include: What is the changing relationship between western conservation and celebrity? How has the spread of television helped shape and mediate this relationship? To what extent can celebrity conservation be seen as part of a global system in which conservation like celebrity is big business? The book critically examines the heroic status accorded to the five figures mentioned above, taking in the various discourses around nature, science, nation, gender, through which they and their work have been presented to us. In doing so, it fills in the cultural, historical, and ideological background behind contemporary celebrity conservationism as a popular expression of a chronically endangered world. The Dynamics of Interactional Humor Villy Tsakona, Jan Chovanec, 2018-01-05 This book deals with the construction of diverse forms of humor in everyday oral, written, and mediatized interactions. It sheds light on the differences and, most importantly, the similarities in the production of interactional humor in face-to-face and various technology-mediated forms of communication, including scripted and non-scripted situations. The chapters analyze humor-related issues in such genres as spontaneous conversations, broadcast dialogues, storytelling, media blogs, bilingual conversations, stand-up comedy, TV documentaries, drama series, family sitcoms, Facebook posts, and internet memes. The individual authors trace how speakers collaboratively circulate, reconstruct, and re-frame either personal or public accounts of reality, aiming among other things to produce and/or reproduce humor. Rather than being finished products with a single interpretation, humorous texts are thus approached as dynamic communicative events that give rise to diverse interpretations and meanings. The book draws on a variety of up-to-date approaches and methodologies and will appeal to scholars in discourse analysis, conversation analysis, interactional sociolinguistics, pragmatics, ethnography of communication, and social semiotics. Extreme Pursuits Graham Huggan, 2009-10-29 A provocative look at travel, both voluntary and otherwise, in an uncertain world. Recontextualizing Humor Villy Tsakona, 2020-02-10 Humor may surface in numerous and diverse contexts which at the same time determine how humor works, its form, and its functions and consequences for interlocutors. Adopting a sociolinguistic and discourse analytic perspective, this study is aligned with approaches to humor, exploring the variety of humorous genres, the wide range of sociopragmatic functions of humor, and the more or less dissimilar perceptions speakers may have concerning what humor is, what it means, and how it works. The chapters of this book propose a new theoretical approach to the analysis of humor by bringing context into focus. Furthermore, the study explores how we can teach about humor within a critical literacy.

framework creating classroom space for everyday humorous texts that are part of students social realities and simultaneously taking into account that humor may yield multiple disparaging and often conflicting interpretations This book is intended to appeal to humor researchers from various disciplines such as linguistics media studies cultural studies literary studies sociology anthropology folklore as well as to professionals or researchers in education Natural History of Western Wild Animals and Guide for Hunters, Trappers, and Sportsmen David W.
