The Curve Of The Arch The Story Of Louis Sullivans Owatonna Bank:

The Curve of the Arch Larry Millett,1985 The Architecture of Use Stephen Grabow,Kent Spreckelmeyer,2014-10-03

By analyzing ten examples of buildings that embody the human experience at an extraordinary level this book clarifies the central importance of the role of function in architecture as a generative force in determining built form Using familiar twentieth century buildings as case studies the authors present these from a new perspective based on their functional design concepts Here Grabow and Spreckelmeyer expand the definition of human use to that of an art form by re evaluating these buildings from an aesthetic and ecological view of function Each building is described from the point of view of a major functional concept or idea of human use which then spreads out and influences the spatial organization built form and structure In doing so each building is presented as an exemplar that reaches beyond the pragmatic concerns of a narrow program and demonstrates how functional concepts can inspire great design evoke archetypal human experience and help us to understand how architecture embodies the deeper purposes and meanings of everyday life Harwell Hamilton Harris

Lisa Germany,2000-01-01 Harwell Harris would have been pleased with Lisa Germany s book The quality of the man permeates the work It is honest forthright architecture It is void of tricks It uses simple materials in an unself conscious manner It places priorities on the user The emphasis on plan in his practice is the thread that takes us from project to project as Germany weaves the Harris tale Ray Kappe FAIA Journal of the Society of Architectural Historians Louis H. Sullivan Lauren S. Weingarden,1987 Shows and describes the eight banks designed by influential Chicago architect Louis Sullivan and discusses his approach to design American Studies Jack Salzman,1990-05-25 This volume supplements the acclaimed three volume set published in 1986 and consists of an annotated listing of American Studies monographs published between 1984 and 1988 There are more than 6 000 descriptive entries in a wide range of categories anthropology and folklore art and architecture history literature music political science popular culture psychology religion science and technology and sociology

They All Fall Down Richard Cahan,1994-09-01 Richard Nickel whom I had the delight of knowing during hisall too brief life is one of the unsung heroes of Chicagoarchitecture He was not an architect himself nor a designer Hesimply took pictures but what pictures He was for want of abetter description one of the most sensitve of architecturalphotographers More than that his life and ironically tragically and poetically his death were fused to Chicagoarchitecture How he died tells us how he lived for the beauty inthe works of Sullivan Wright and the others His story is one thatmust be told Studs Terkel author He was completely understanding of architecture and genius andof the quality of the work he was dealing with He wassingle minded in his pursuit and dedication to quality in history art and architecture That is an increasingly rare quality Ada Louise Huxtable former New York Timesarchitecture critic Richard was an excellent photographer sensitve andintelligent and a very good craftsman John Szarkowski former Director Photography Museumof Modern Art New York Richard Nickel was one of those who saw architecture and whopassionately and skillfully pursued its portrayal He was one of a very small number and to make his work known would be a fundamental service to architects students and teachers as well as to the art of architecture Edgar Kaufmann Jr architectural historian Avery Index to Architectural Periodicals. 2d Ed., Rev. and Enl Avery Library,1988 The Midwest in American Architecture John S.
