Teaching The Primary Curriculum For Constructive Learning:

Teaching the Primary Curriculum for Constructive Learning Michael Littledyke, Laura Huxford, 2013-10-23 First Published in 1998 There is a current preoccupation with educational standards with claims that overall standards of achievement have fallen The purpose of this book therefore is to address the question of how children learn across the primary National Curriculum subjects with implications for effective teaching approaches The book emphasises a constructivist view of learning which acknowledges that children have views and attitudes which are formed as a result of experiences in and out of school and that these must be taken into account if meaningful and transferable learning is to be achieved Report of the Board of Education Connecticut. The emphasis on subject knowledge in primary curricula is a world wide phenomenon and has become increasingly the focus of attention in England with the introduction of the National Curriculum and the appointment of subject co ordinators in schools Yet what exactly constitutes a subject and its practice remains controversial The book is organised into five parts Part one examines the general aims of primary education in order to give a background for a more detailed exploration of UK curriculum development Parts two three and four examine the core subjects of English science and mathematics whilst constantly bearing in mind the full range of views about the purpose of education and the nature of knowledge Part five introduces key debates about approaches to knowledge and raises issues about the future organisation of the curriculum Subject Learning in the Primary Curriculum is the OU reader for Module 832 Teaching and Learning in the Primary Core Curriculum in the MA in Education Report of the Commissioner of Education USA.
