Memories and Melancholy Richard S. Scarsella, 2005 A collection of social and cultural articles published in regional newspapers over the past decade

Cinema Treasures Ross Melnick, Andreas Fuchs, 2004 More than 100 years after the first movie delighted audiences movie theaters remain the last great community centers and one of the few amusements any family can afford While countless books have been devoted to films and their stars none have attempted a truly definitive history of those magical venues that have transported moviegoers since the beginning of the last century In this stunningly illustrated book film industry insiders Ross Melnick and Andreas Fuchs take readers from the nickelodeon to the megaplex and show how changes in moviemaking and political social and technological forces e g war depression the baby boom the VCR have influenced the way we see movies Archival photographs from archives like the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences and movie theater ephemera postcards period ads matchbooks and even a barf bag sourced from private collections complement Melnick's informative and engaging history Also included throughout the book are Fuchs' profiles detailing 25 classic movie theaters that have been restored and renovated and which continue to operate today Each of these two page spreads is illustrated with marvelous modern photographs many taken by top architectural photographers The result is a fabulous look at one way in which Americans continue to come together as a nation A timeline throughout places the developments described in a broader historical context We've had a number of beautiful books about the great movie palaces and even some individual volumes that pay tribute to surviving theaters around the country This is the first book I can recall that focuses on the survivors from coast to coast and puts them into historical context Sumptuously produced in an oversized format on heavy coated paper stock this beautiful book offers a lively history of movie theaters in America an impressive array of photos and memorabilia and a heartening survey of the landmarks in our midst from the majestic Fox Tucson Theatre in Tucson Arizona to the charming jewel box that is the Avon in Stamford Connecticut I don't know why but I never tire of gazing at black and white they evoke the era of moviemaking and moviegoing I care about the most and this book is packed with them Cinema Treasures is indeed a treasure and a perfect gift item for the holiday season Leonard Maltin Humble or grandiose stand alone or strung together movie theaters are places where dreams are born Once upon a time they were treated with the respect they deserve In their heyday historian Ross Melnick and exhibitor Andreas Fuchs write in Cinema Treasures openings of new motion picture pleasure palaces that would have dazzled Kubla Khan received enormous attention in newspapers around the country On top of the publicity they generated their debuts were treated like the gala openings of new operas or exhibits with critics weighing in on everything from the interior and exterior design to the orchestra Handsomely produced and extensively illustrated Cinema Treasures is detailed without being dull and thoroughly at home with this often neglected subject matter Its title would have you believe it is a celebration of the golden age of movie theaters But this book is something completely different an examination of the history of movie exhibition which the authors accurately call a vastly under researched topic Los Angeles Times Grindhouse Nostalgia David Church,2015-01-13 Too often dismissed as nothing more than trash cinema exploitation films have become both earnestly appreciated cult objects and home video items that are more accessible than ever In this wide ranging new study David Church explores how the history of drive in theatres and urban grind houses has descended to the home video formats that keep these lurid movies fondly alive today Arguing for the importance of cultural memory in contemporary fan practices Church focuses on both the re release of archival exploitation films on DVD and the recent cycle of retrosploitation films like Grindhouse Machete Viva The Devils Rejects and Black Dynamite At a time when older ideas of subcultural belonging have become increasingly subject to nostalgia Grindhouse Nostalgia presents an indispensable study of exploitation cinemas continuing allure and is a bold contribution to our understanding of fandom taste politics film distribution and home video Screens and Illusionism Dominique Jullien,Peter Bloom,2024-12-31 Screens and Illusionism explores the effects of illusionism as foundational to contemporary acts of perception and aesthetics Our point of departure is the acknowledgement that our sensory perception is fundamentally subject to mediation through a class of objects techniques and technologies We emphasize mediation to consider the loss of optical certainty and explore illusionism within the register of the uncanny The volume is divided into three sections Screens as Perceptual Vehicles Part I Mediation and its Avatars Part II and Alternative Teleologies of Media Part III Overall the collection resonates with contemporary discussions of screen culture media materiality and intermediality It explores an array of pre and post cinematic devices and spectacular entertainments forging links between e olde and e newe media and across media formats Box Office ,1962 Stepping Out in Cincinnati Allen J. Singer,2005 Long before folks had a television set and radio in every room they sought entertainment by stepping out for a night on the town The choices around Cincinnati were nearly limitless live theater at the Cox spectacular musicals at the Shubert hotels featuring fine dining and dance orchestras talking pictures at everyone's favorite movie palace the Albee burlesque and vaudeville shows at the Empress Theater on Vine Street and gambling casinos were just a short drive across the river in Newport All of the major entertainment venues in the Queen City during the first half of the 20th century are explored in Stepping out in Cincinnati From saloons to ornate movie palaces and from the Cotton Club to the Capitol you join those pleasure seekers getting a real sense of what they saw wonderful events and their countless images the things of which fond memories were made Today those memories have faded and virtually all of the once glittering showplaces have been bulldozed into history But within these pages we get to experience first hand what it was like to be there Unique among the many photographs featuring unforgettable movie houses and nightclub orchestras are never before published images of actual live vaudeville performances onstage at the Shubert plus rare clandestine pictures snapped inside the casinos in Newport Also revealed are the locations of the better known speakeasies during Prohibition where the best halls to dance to live orchestras were what the earliest movie houses were like and what black Cincinnatians did for entertainment The
