The Prophetic Literature Prof. Marvin A. Sweeney, 2010-10-01 Biblical Studies Biblical texts create worlds of meaning and invite readers to enter them When readers enter such textual worlds which are often strange and complex they are confronted with theological claims With this in mind the purpose of the Interpreting Biblical Texts series is to help serious readers in their experience of reading and interpreting by providing guides for their journeys into textual worlds The controlling perspective is expressed in the operative word of the title interpreting The primary focus of the series is not so much on the world behind the texts or out of which the texts have arisen as on the worlds created by the texts in their engagement with readers Although these books of the prophets are based upon the careers and experiences of some of the most talented and provocative individuals of their times the books must be read first as literature Each book displays its own unique organization literary characteristics and theological outlook in presenting the prophets In the case of Jeremiah interpreters must even consider two distinctive forms of the book in the Hebrew Bible and the Greek Septuagint By guiding the reader through the literary structure and language of each of the prophetic books as well as the social roles of the individual prophets this volume opens the reader to greater understanding and appreciation of the prophets of Israel and Judah Fact packed and crystal clear Marvin Sweeney's Interpreting Biblical Texts The Prophetic Literature invites readers to tour the landscape of ancient Israel's Latter Prophets corpus Sweeney serves as a first rate guide equipping readers with basic knowledge to grasp and grapple with the literary legacies of the canonical prophets True to the series title he interprets texts with an eye to major dynamic themes in Jewish and Christian traditions The volume proves a reliable guidebook for readers wishing not only to survey but also to engage in dialogue with ancient Israel's canonical prophets Katheryn Pfisterer Darr Professor of Hebrew Bible Boston University The aim of the series Interpreting Biblical Texts is pedagogical This well written easy to follow and coherent book serves its purpose well More importantly it certainly invites and guides its readers in the enterprise of interacting with the prophetic books in a way that is informed by recent academic scholarship on this literature Ehud Ben Zvi History and Classics Interdisciplinary Program of Religious Studies University of Alberta This is a new and interesting approach to the prophetic literature which will be illuminating for theological reflection in our own post Holocaust era John J Collins Holmes Professor of Old Testament Yale Marvin A Sweeney is Professor of Hebrew Bible Claremont School of Theology and Professor of Religion at Claremont Graduate University

The Self-Shaming God Who Reconciles Warner M. Bailey, 2013-06-10 Trust is at the heart of healthy relationships When trust is broken the victim is made to feel as nothing The Bible calls this experience of betrayal to be shamed When the victim names God as the betrayer those who exercise pastoral care in the church are faced with a spiritual crisis Pastors and those who exercise pastoral care are led through biblical study and theological reflection to insights that strengthen their role in the recovery of both the victims and the perpetrators of betrayal Central to this recovery is the solidarity of the self shaming God with both victim and perpetrator At the cross shame reaches its most intense expression as Jesus voices his abandonment by God Centering this pivotal experience in a doctrine of the Trinity makes clear how shame defines the very core of the redemptive work of God as Father Son and Spirit Through the resurrection of Jesus God triumphs over shame and this vindication of God's integrity is the basis for the evangelistic preaching of the early church The Self Shaming God Who Reconciles underscores how Scripture functions as a theological document when interpreted canonically TANAK Marvin A. Sweeney, 2011-11-01 Though biblical theology has long been considered a strictly Christian enterprise Marvin A Sweeney here proposes a Jewish theology of the Hebrew Bible based on the importance of Tanak as the foundation of Judaism and organized around the major components Torah Nevi'im Prophets and Ketuvim Writings Sweeney finds the structuring themes of Jewish life the constitution of the nation Israel in relation to God the disruption of that ideal documented by the Prophets and the reconstitution of the nation around the Second Temple in the Writings Throughout he is attentive to tensions within and among the texts and the dialogical character of Israel's sacred heritage Publisher description The Formation of the Book of Jeremiah Geoffrey H. Parke-Taylor, 2000 Second Zechariah and the Deuteronomistic School Raymond F. Person, 1993-01-01 Person concludes that the Deuteronomistic school's redactional activity continued into the postexilic period In Part I he first critiques the commonly held conclusion that the Deuteronomistic school ceased in the Exile He then presents evidence that suggests that the Deuteronomistic redactions of the Deuteronomistic History and Jeremiah continued into the postexilic period this evidence is of two types 1 Deuteronomistic phraseology in the postexilic additions found in the MT and 2 the themes of return and restoration as vaticinia ex eventu In Part II the conclusion that the Deuteronomistic school continued in the postexilic period is bolstered with additional evidence in the form of Deuteronomistic phraseology in the redactional material of Second Zechariah adapting the methodology applied by J Philip Hyatt and others to Jeremiah Person argues that Zechariah was redacted by the Deuteronomistic school with the addition of the Deuteronomistic prose in Zechariah 9-14 In Part III Person comments on the possible social setting of the Deuteronomistic school in postexilic Yehud as well as its theology in this setting Structure and the Book of Zechariah Mike Butterworth, 1992-06-01 This synthetic study has two primary tasks The first is to elucidate the structure of the book of Zechariah But in order to do this a satisfactory method of analysis must be found Thus the author begins by drawing up suitable literary criteria that will help to frame a reliable way of proceeding The method is then tested on the book of Zechariah and the results are compared with those of other biblical scholarship Although this is a study in rhetorical criticism it approaches the text from the standpoint of the authors and redactors' intentions The result is a convincing and wide ranging analysis of the various and complex structural patterns of Zechariah The Lord's Prayer and Other Prayer Texts from the Greco-Roman Era James H. Charlesworth, Mark Harding, Mark Christopher Kiley, 1994 This first publication to emerge from the Society of Biblical Literature's seminar group on prayer in the Greco-Roman period includes in addition to the editor contributions by Barbara E

Bowe Barbara E Reid Agneta Enermalm Ogawa Mark Harding Mark S Kiley and Steven F Plymale The opening chapter addresses some of Joachim Jeremias's contentions concerning Luke's shortened version of the Lord's Prayer Linguistic and thematic affinities between the Matthean version of the Lord's Prayer and the sayings in the Sermon on the Mount are then considered as is the Prayer of Simeon and its relation to the sanctioning power of prayer texts in Luke Acts After revisiting Jesus transfiguration experience to determine what really happened the book turns to the prayers and benedictions in Josephus's Antiquities and to the long prayer that concludes 1 Clement An exhaustive bibliography on the Lord's Prayer and other prayer texts from the Greco Roman period comprises the second half of the book Beginning with a stylistic and genre analysis the bibliography lists general studies Hebrew Bible Jewish texts New Testament early Christian texts magical texts Gnostic Hermetic Manichaean and Madaean texts and papyri and inscriptions Choice, 1988 Gender in the Book of Jeremiah Angela Bauer-Levesque, Angela Bauer, 1999 In the book of Jeremiah gendered imagery appears in central passages A first of its kind this study follows the development of these gendered images through the entire prophetic book Feminist hermeneutics and literary approaches join to show that female imagery in particular substantiates the theological movement of Jeremiah from call to repentance in the face of death and destruction through remembrance in mourning to an eschatological vision of redemption in exile Further theological considerations of power dynamics bring the ancient texts in conversation with contemporary contexts reading and challenging Jeremianic theology from the perspectives of current feminist liberation theologies Index of Subject Indices, Old Testament, 1975-1983, 1984 Paperbound Books in Print, 1991 Journal of Biblical Literature, 1988 "A Wise and Discerning Mind" Burke O.
