Conservation of Historic Buildings Bernard Melchior Feilden,1982 Since its publication in 1982 Sir Bernard Feilden's Conservation of Historic Buildings has become the standard text for architects and others involved in the conservation of historic structures Leading practitioners around the world have praised the book as being the most significant single volume on the subject to be published Now the book is re issued with revisions in softcover so that a greater audience can enjoy this classic book The result of the lifetime's experience of one of the world's leading architectural conservators the book comprehensively surveys the fundamental principles of conservation in their application to historic buildings and provides the basic information needed by architects engineers and surveyors for the solution of problems of architectural conservation in almost every climatic region of the world This softcover edition is organised into three complementary parts in the first the structure of buildings is dealt with in detail the second focuses attention on the causes of decay and the materials they affect and the third considers the practical role of the architect involved in conservation and rehabilitation As well as being essential reading for architects and others concerned with conservation many lay people with various kinds of responsibility for historic buildings will find this clearly written jargon free work a fruitful source of guidance and information Gain a valuable insight into the building conservation world Benefit from the world's leading authority Easy to understand jargon free source of guidance and information Avery Index to Architectural Periodicals. 2d Ed., Rev. and Enl Avery Library, 1997 The Care of Old Buildings Donald William Insall, 1958 Parliamentary Debates (Hansard).
