The Conduct Of Soviet Foreign Policy:

The Conduct of Soviet Foreign Policy Erik P. Hoffmann, Frederic J. Fleron, 1971      Soviet Foreign Policy in a Changing World Robbin Frederick Laird, Erik P. Hoffmann, This anthology provides readers with a broad overview of the sources substance and significance of Soviet foreign policy in the contemporary period. It covers both the legacies of the tsarist and Stalinist eras and the motivations and priorities of present day Soviet leaders. Included are sizable sections on the policy making process and military power as well as Soviet relations with the US, Western and Eastern Europe, the Far East and the Third World. Divergent viewpoints are expressed throughout future prospects and directions for Soviet foreign policy are also discussed. The emphasis of this collection is practical and policy oriented. The contributors are distinguished present and recent officials of the US government scholars and full time researchers in government advisory agencies. All are from the US, Canada and Europe. Their essays are insightful and empirically grounded some revised and updated specifically for this collection while three Goodson and Schultz, Herspring and Leighton are published here for the first time. The collection provides a comprehensive view of contemporary Soviet behavior in international affairs while reflecting the concerns of Americans both inside and outside of government who help formulate and implement US policy toward the Soviet Union. As with its companion volumes The Soviet Polity in the Modern Era Aldine 1984 and The Conduct of Soviet Foreign Policy Aldine 1980, Soviet Foreign Policy in a Changing World will become an important text in Soviet studies and will be of interest to government officials and the general reader with an interest in Soviet studies as well.      The Conduct of Soviet Foreign Policy Erik Peter Hoffmann, Frederic J. Fleron, Articles by Brzezinski, Pipes, Schulman, Gati and two new chapters written by Hoffmann and Laird bring new information to this edition on geo politics, SALT, China and the scientific technological revolution's effects in the Soviet Union. The last three sections of the book include updated selections such as a Retrospect and Prospect on the use abuse of Soviet power.      Soviet Foreign Policy Jan F. Triska, David D. Finley, 1968      The Scientific-Technological Revolution and Soviet Foreign Policy Erik P. Hoffmann, Robbin F. Laird, 2016-06-23 The Scientific Technological Revolution and Soviet Foreign Policy explains the effects of the worldwide scientific technological revolution (STR) on Soviet foreign policy under the collective leadership of Leonid Brezhnev. Organized into five chapters this book carefully examines Soviet views of the relationship of STR with political, economic and military dimensions of peaceful coexistence and detente. This text also evaluates the impact of scientific discoveries, technological innovations, foreign economic relations, strategic arms development and instability in Third World countries. Some of the functions performed by Soviet perspectives on scientific technical change and international politics are also reported.      Soviet Foreign Policy, 1917-1941 George Frost Kennan, 1960 The purpose of this treatise is to give a brief account of Soviet foreign policy from the moment of the Bolshevik seizure of power in 1917 to the involvement of the Soviet Union in the Second World War in June 1941.      The Study of Soviet Foreign Policy Arnold Lawrence Horelick, A. Ross Johnson, John D. Steinbruner, 1973

Soviet Conduct in World Affairs Alexander Dallin, 1960 A collection of papers on Soviet foreign policy focusing on the period of Stalin's reign and on the Khrushchev period    Soviet Foreign Policy 1962-1973 Robin Edmonds, 1977    The influence of ideology on the foreign policy behaviour of the Soviet Union and its East European satellites,

1945-61 Simon M. Ingold, 2008-01-21 Seminar paper from the year 2005 in the subject History of Germany Postwar Period Cold War grade Honors Bestnote Yale University Yale University language English abstract In order to evaluate the influence of ideology on the foreign policy behaviour of the Soviet Union and its satellites during the phase of 1945-61 I will start with an overview of the specific functions that Marxist-Leninist ideology fulfilled in the context of Soviet foreign policy. This is critical for the understanding of the practical uses of ideology in the policy-making process and for the Soviet cause as a whole. In a second step I will set forth the role of ideology and its different functions during the Stalinist era 1945-53 and up to the building of the Berlin wall in 1961. Special emphasis will be laid on changes in the use of ideology as a foreign policy tool and their respective causes. This analysis is followed by an assessment of the implications on the responsibility for the Cold War in Europe    Perceptions and Behavior in Soviet Foreign Policy Richard K. Herrmann, 2010-11-23 This book discerns Soviet leaders' views of the United States and sees them in relation to foreign policy statements and actions. Herrmann first examines the subtle problem of analyzing perceptions and interpreting motives from the words and deeds of national leaders. He then turns to cases measuring the dominant U.S. hypotheses about the USSR against Soviet behavior in Central Europe, the Middle East, Africa, and Asia as well as Soviet participation in the arms race. Finally he weighs his conclusions against a thematic study of speeches and publications by members of the Politburo    Soviet Foreign Policy, 1917-1941 George F. Kennan, 2003-01 The purpose of this treatise is to give a brief account of Soviet foreign policy from the moment of the Bolshevik seizure of power in 1917 to the involvement of the Soviet Union in the Second World War in June 1941

Process and Power in Soviet Foreign Policy Vernon V. Aspaturian, 1971    Soviet Foreign Policy and the Revolutions of 1989 in Eastern Europe Ronald D. Asmus, James F. Brown, Keith Crane, 1991 This report analyzes the collapse of Communist rule in Eastern Europe in 1989 and assesses the role of changes in Soviet foreign policy in precipitating this collapse. It finds that the preceding 40 years of economic and social failure by the Communist regimes, the illegitimacy of Communist rule, the consolidation of societal opposition, loss of confidence in the ruling elites, and the improvement in East-West relations created the conditions leading to the collapse of Communist rule. However, the change in Soviet foreign policy under Gorbachev was the precipitating event. Once change began, the removal of the Communist leadership in one country led to upheavals in others. The Soviet leadership did not foresee the collapse of Communism in Eastern Europe; rather, it believed that the old regimes would be replaced by reformers. It also failed to see the unification of Germany as an outcome of the collapse of the Honecker regime. In the future, Soviet influence in Eastern Europe will be diminished but will not ebb to the low levels of the pre-World War II era. Economic and mutual security concerns will continue to tie Eastern Europe to the

The book contains region by region reviews giving a narrative account of the year's events and an analysis of their political significance. There is also a country by country section giving the dates of events important in relations between the Soviet Union and the respective countries. There is also an overview of the military and economic factors governing Soviet foreign policy details of Soviet activity in international organizations and a personnel listing
