The Technological Conscience Manfred Stanley, 1978 Technology and Contemporary Life P.T.

Durbin, 2012-12-06 Nearly everyone agrees that life has changed in our technological society whether the contrast is with earlier stages in Western culture or with non Western cultures Modernization is just one of various terms that have been applied to the process by which we have arrived at the peculiar lifestyle typical of our age whatever the term for the process almost all analysts agree in finding technology to be one of its key ingredients This is the judgment of critics of all sorts anthropologists historians literary figures sociologists theologians Volume 4 in the Philosophy and Technology series brings the perspectives of philosophers to bear on the issue of characterizing contemporary life mainly in high technology societies Some of the philosophers look at the issue directly Others focus on work life or on the living arrangements that surround or condition or offer refuge from work life in technological society Still others reflect on particular technologies especially biotechnology and computer technology that are increasingly affecting both work and family life There is also a paper on the nature of thinking in technological praxis along with two papers on whether it is appropriate to export this sort of thinking to Third World countries and another paper on the issue of responsibility in technology which would have fit better in volume 3 of the series entitled Technology and Responsibility 1987 Finally volume 4 closes with a broad ranging bibliography that takes work and technology as its focus International Conference on Advancements of Medicine and Health Care through Technology; 23 - 26 September 2009 Cluj-Napoca, Romania Simona Vlad, Radu V. Ciupa, Anca I. Nicu, 2010-02-01 Projections for advances in medical and biological technology will transform medical care and treatment This in great part is due to the result of the interaction and collaboration between medical sciences and engineering These advances will result in substantial progress in health care and in the quality of life of the population Frequently however the implications of technologies in terms of increasing recurrent costs additional required support services change in medical practice and training needs are underestimated As a result the widespread irrational use of technologies leads to a wastage of scarce resources and weakens health systems performance To avoid such problems a systematic and effective Health Technology System must be developed and introduced requiring the support and commitment of decision makers of all levels of the health system The MediTech2009 conference aims to provide a special opportunity for the Romanian professionals involved in basic research R D industry and medical applications to exchange their know how and build up collaboration in one of the most human fields of science and techniques The conference is intended to be an international forum for researchers and practitioners interested in the advances and applications of biomedical engineering to exchange the latest research results and ideas in the areas covered by the topics and not only We believe the reader will find the proceedings an impressive document of progress to date in this rapidly changing field Technoethics and the Evolving Knowledge Society: Ethical Issues in Technological Design, Research, Development, and Innovation Luppigini, Rocci, 2010-01-31 This
