

Warship Buchanan History

The ship is named in honor of Captain Franklin Buchanan, United States Navy and ranking officer of the Confederate States Navy. Captain Buchanan's pedigree is well-documented. He served as the first Superintendent of the United States Naval Academy and took part in negotiations, together with Commodore Matthew C. Perry, which opened Japanese ports to the western world. Serving in the Confederate Navy during the Civil War, he died in 1874 and is buried in the family cemetery in Talbot County, Maryland.

The USS BUCHANAN (DDG-14), the third destroyer so named for this fearless and brilliant naval commander, has had a tremendous reputation to uphold. During World War I, the first BUCHANAN (DD-131), one of fifty destroyers transferred to the British Royal Navy, attacked and put out of commission the German submarine base at St. Nazaire, France. The second BUCHANAN (DD-484) won eleven Battle Stars and culminated its illustrious career by conveying General Douglas MacArthur from Yokohama, Japan, to the USS MISSOURI in Tokyo Bay for the surrender ceremonies which terminated world War II in the Pacific.

The Present BUCHANAN (DDG-14) has more than lived up to the reputation established by its two predecessors. DDG-14's accomplishments since being commissioned in February, 1962, have been myriad. The following are most noteworthy: (1) In May 1962, the ship took part in the dedication ceremony of the USS ARIZONA memorial, a memorial to the valiant men who gave their lives for their country on 7 December 1941; (2) In March 1965, BUCHANAN was awarded the Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal for service in the South China Sea in support of strike operations over hostile territory; (3) July 1966 saw BUCHANAN become the Flagship for Commander, Seventh Fleet during his official visit to Bangkok, Thailand; (4) For six and one-half months, beginning in January 68 BUCHANAN participated in offensive naval gunfire support; (5) In 1969 the ship was again awarded the Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal for its tour in the sea of Japan where anti-air defense was provided for reconnaissance flights in the area; (6) In 1974, BUCHANAN performed operational commitments in the Indian Ocean admirably and the ship's overall improvement in material condition won DDG-14 the coveted Arleigh Burke Fleet Trophy for the most improved unit in the U.S. Pacific Fleet in the area of combat readiness.
