The Novels of Fyodor Dostoevsky: The eternal husband Fyodor Dostoyevsky,1912 Dostoevsky Joseph Frank,1995 This volume the fourth of five planned in Joseph Frank's widely acclaimed biography of Dostoevsky covers the six most remarkably productive years in the novelist's entire career It was in this short span of time that Dostoevsky produced three of his greatest novels Crime and Punishment The Idiot and The Devils and two of his best novellas The Gambler and The Eternal Husband All these masterpieces were written in the midst of harrowing practical and economic circumstances as Dostoevsky moved from place to place frequently giving way to his passion for roulette Having remarried and fled from Russia to escape importuning creditors and grasping dependents he could not return for fear of being thrown into debtor's prison He and his young bride who twice made him a father lived obscurely and penuriously in Switzerland Germany and Italy as he toiled away at his writing their only source of income All the while he worried that his recurrent epileptic attacks were impairing his literary capacities His enforced exile intensified not only his love for his native land but also his abhorrence of the doctrines of Russian Nihilism which he saw as an alien European importation infecting the Russian psyche Two novels of this period were thus an attempt to conjure this looming spectre of moral social disintegration while The Idiot offered an image of Dostoevsky's conception of the Russian Christian ideal that he hoped would take its place

Before They Were Titans Elizabeth Cheresh Allen, 2019-08-28 Dostoevsky and Tolstoy are the titans of Russian literature. As mature artists they led very different lives and wrote vastly different works but their early lives and writings display provocative kinships while also indicating the divergent paths the two authors would take en route to literary greatness. The ten new critical essays here written by leading specialists in nineteenth century Russian literature give fresh sophisticated readings to works from the first decade of the literary life of each Russian author for Dostoevsky the 1840s for Tolstoy the 1850s. Collectively these essays yield composite portraits of these two artists as young men finding their literary way. At the same time they show how the early works merit appreciation for themselves before their authors were Titans.
