Unsupervised Learning Geoffrey Hinton, Terrence J. Sejnowski, 1999-05-24 Since its founding in 1989 by Terrence Sejnowski Neural Computation has become the leading journal in the field Foundations of Neural Computation collects by topic the most significant papers that have appeared in the journal over the past nine years This volume of Foundations of Neural Computation on unsupervised learning algorithms focuses on neural network learning algorithms that do not require an explicit teacher The goal of unsupervised learning is to extract an efficient internal representation of the statistical structure implicit in the inputs These algorithms provide insights into the development of the cerebral cortex and implicit learning in humans They are also of interest to engineers working in areas such as computer vision and speech recognition who seek efficient representations of raw input data

Analyzing Event Statistics in Corporate Finance Jau-Lian Jeng, 2015-02-04 Analyzing Event Statistics in Corporate Finance provides new alternative methodologies to increase accuracy when performing statistical tests for event studies within corporate finance In contrast to conventional surveys or literature reviews Jeng focuses on various methodological defects or deficiencies that lead to inaccurate empirical results which ultimately produce bad corporate policies This work discusses the issues of data collection and structure the recursive smoothing for systematic components in excess returns the choices of event windows different time horizons for the events and the consequences of applications of different methodologies In providing improvement for event studies in corporate finance and based on the fact that changes in parameters for financial time series are common knowledge a new alternative methodology is developed to extend the conventional analysis to more robust arguments

Empirical Asset Pricing Models Jau-Lian Jeng, 2018-03-19 This book analyzes the verification of empirical asset pricing models when returns of securities are projected onto a set of presumed or observed factors Particular emphasis is placed on the verification of essential factors and features for asset returns through model search approaches in which non diversifiability and statistical inferences are considered The discussion reemphasizes the necessity of maintaining a dichotomy between the nondiversifiable pricing kernels and the individual components of stock returns when empirical asset pricing models are of interest In particular the model search approach with this dichotomy emphasized for empirical model selection of asset pricing is applied to discover the pricing kernels of asset returns

Handbook of Economic Forecasting Graham Elliott, Allan Timmermann, 2013-10-24 The highly prized ability to make financial plans with some certainty about the future comes from the core fields of economics In recent years the availability of more data analytical tools of greater precision and ex post studies of business decisions have increased demand for information about economic forecasting Volumes 2A and 2B which follows Nobel laureate Clive Granger's Volume 1 2006 concentrate on two major subjects Volume 2A covers innovations in methodologies specifically macroforecasting and forecasting financial variables Volume 2B investigates commercial applications with sections on forecasters objectives and methodologies Experts provide surveys of a large range of literature scattered across applied and theoretical statistics journals as well as econometrics and empirical economics journals The Handbook of Economic Forecasting Volumes 2A and 2B provide a unique compilation of chapters giving a coherent overview of forecasting theory and applications in one place and with up to date accounts of all major conceptual issues Focuses on innovation in economic forecasting via industry applications Presents coherent summaries of subjects in economic forecasting that stretch from methodologies to applications Makes details about economic forecasting accessible to scholars in fields outside economics
