Stochastic Electromagnetic Image Propagation Robert Michael Manning, 1993 Stochastic Equations: Theory and Applications in Acoustics, Hydrodynamics, Magnetohydrodynamics, and Radiophysics, Volume 2 Valery I. Klyatskin, 2014-07-14 In some cases certain coherent structures can exist in stochastic dynamic systems almost in every particular realization of random parameters describing these systems Dynamic localization in one dimensional dynamic systems vortexgenesis vortex production in hydrodynamic flows and phenomenon of clustering of various fields in random media i e appearance of small regions with enhanced content of the field against the nearly vanishing background of this field in the remaining portion of space are examples of such structure formation The general methodology presented in Volume 1 is used in Volume 2 Coherent Phenomena in Stochastic Dynamic Systems to expound the theory of these phenomena in some specific fields of stochastic science among which are hydrodynamics magnetohydrodynamics acoustics optics and radiophysics The material of this volume includes particle and field clustering in the cases of scalar density field and vector magnetic field passive tracers in a random velocity field dynamic localization of plane waves in layered random media as well as monochromatic wave propagation and caustic structure formation in random media in terms of the scalar parabolic equation Optimal Control of Viscous Flow S. S. Sritharan, 1998-01-01 Computation and Applied Mathematics , 1998 Effective Medium Theory Tuck C. Choy, 2016 This book is devoted to effective medium theory EMT It provides a solid foundation of the principles and later shows numerous applications to various fields of physics material science and applied physics and chemistry It is intended to be a useful research reference as well as a graduate student text Progress in Optics , 1994-11-16 This volume contains six review articles dealing with topics of current research interest in optics and in related fields The first article deals with the so called embedding method which has found useful applications in the study of wave propagation in random media The second article presents a review of an interesting class of non linear optical phenomena which have their origin in the dependence of the complex dielectric constant of some media on the light intensity These phenomena which include self focusing self trapping and self modulation have found many applications for example in fibre optics devices signal processing and computer technology The next article is concerned with gap solitons which are electromagnetic field structures which can exist in nonlinear media that have periodic variation in their linear optical properties with periodicities of the order of the wavelength of light Both qualitative and quantitative descriptions of gap solitons are presented and some experimental schemes for their detection in the laboratory are discussed The fourth article describes methods for the determination of optical phase from phase modulated images These methods have found applications in plasma diagnostics in connection with flow characterisation and in the design of new optical instruments The final article reviews developments relating to imaging through turbulence in the atmosphere It looks at the state of the art of our understanding of this subject and discusses the most important methods that are presently employed to compensate for
