Stopping Wars Defining The Obstacles To Cease Fire:

Stopping Wars James D D Smith, 2018-03-13 This is an attempt to catalogue the reasons why some wars are so difficult to stop even when both sides want the fighting to end Through detailed case studies the book assesses the obstacles and points toward solutions for ending wars more quickly Each chapter is devoted to a specific obstacle which the author analyzes and then illustrates with case studies drawing on such conflicts as the Iran Iraq War the Gulf War and the Yugoslav wars He assesses the role of third parties in trying to persuade people to stop fighting and examines what happens when obstacles to a cease fire cannot be overcome Ceasefire Agreements and Peace Processes Malin Akebo, 2016-11-10 analyses ceasefire agreements in relation to peace processes using qualitative analysis uses a process oriented conflict dynamics approach to analyse and compare ceasefire agreements will be of much interest to students of peace and conflict studies intra state conflict Asian politics security studies and IR Ceasefires Govinda Clayton, Simon J. A. Mason, Valerie Sticher, Andreas Wenger, 2025-03-03 A policy relevant study of when and how ceasefires lead to peace Almost all intrastate conflicts involve ceasefire agreements yet little is known about which factors make a ceasefire effective in stopping violence and ultimately ending intrastate conflict Ceasefires explores the complex relationship between the ceasefire and political negotiation processes and examines how they can either reinforce or impede each other Case studies from the joint perspectives of practitioners and scholars cover conflicts in Bosnia Burundi Colombia Darfur El Salvador Myanmar the Philippines Sudan North South and Syria This in depth analysis of ceasefires offers a unique framework for future mediators and negotiators as well as scholars of the intrastate peace process to enable them to identify a spectrum of potentially acceptable ceasefire agreements and sequencing approaches There Was a Country Chinua Achebe, 2012-09-27 From the legendary author of Things Fall Apart comes this long awaited memoir recalling Chinua Achebe's personal experiences of and reflections on the Biafran War one of Nigeria's most tragic civil wars Chinua Achebe the author of Things Fall Apart was a writer whose moral courage and storytelling gifts have left an enduring stamp on world literature There Was a Country was his long awaited account of coming of age during the defining experience of his life the Nigerian Civil War also known as the Biafran War of 1967-1970 It became infamous around the world for its impact on the Biafrans who were starved to death by the Nigerian government in one of the twentieth century's greatest humanitarian disasters Caught up in the atrocities were Chinua Achebe and his young family Achebe already a world renowned novelist served his Biafran homeland as a roving cultural ambassador witnessing the war's full horror first hand Immediately after the war he took an academic post in the United States and for over forty years he maintained a considered silence on those terrible years addressing them only obliquely through his poetry After years in the making There Was A Country presents his towering reckoning with one of modern Africa's most fateful experiences both as he lived it and came to understand it Marrying history and memoir with the author's poetry woven throughout There Was a Country is a distillation of vivid observation and considered research and reflection It relates Nigeria's birth pangs in the context of Achebe's own development as a man and a writer and examines the role of the artist in times of war. Reviews No writer is better placed than Chinua Achebe to tell the story of the Nigerian Biafran war. The book makes you pine for the likes of Achebe to govern. We have in There Was a Country an elegy from a master storyteller who has witnessed the undulating fortunes of a nation. Noo Saro Wiwa Guardian. Chinua Achebe's history of Biafra is a meditation on the condition of freedom. It has the tense narrative grip of the best fiction. It is also a revelatory entry into the intimate character of the writer's brilliant mind and bold spirit. Achebe has created here a new genre of literature. Nadine Gordimer. Part history, part memoir. Achebe's moving account of the war is laced with anger but there is also an abiding tone of regret for what Nigeria might have been without conflict and mismanagement. Sunday Times. About the author: Chinua Achebe was born in Nigeria in 1930. He published novels, short stories, essays, and children's books. His volume of poetry Christmas in Biafra was the joint winner of the first Commonwealth Poetry Prize. Of his novels Arrow of God won the New Statesman Jock Campbell Award and Anthills of the Savannah was a finalist for the 1987 Booker Prize. Things Fall Apart, Achebe's masterpiece, has been published in fifty different languages and has sold more than ten million copies. Achebe lectured widely, receiving many honors from around the world. He was the recipient of the Nigerian National Merit Award, Nigeria's highest award for intellectual achievement. In 2007 he won the Man Booker International Prize. He died in 2013.

Confrontation, Strategy and War Termination Christopher Tuck, 2016-05-23. At the heart of this book is the problem of war termination. Britain won an almost unbroken string of tactical military victories during an undeclared war against the Republic of Indonesia in the 1960s, yet it proved difficult to translate this into strategic success. Using conflict termination theories, this book argues that British strategy during Confrontation was both exemplary and flawed, both of which need not be mutually exclusive. The British experience in Indonesia represents an illuminating case study of the difficulties associated with strategy and the successful termination of conflicts. The value of this book lies in two areas: as a contribution to the literature on British counter-insurgency operations and as a contribution to the debates on the problems of war termination in the context of strategic thought. International Journal, 1996. Third-party Intervention in Militarized Disputes Robert Wilhelm Rauchhaus, 2000. Peacekeeping & International Relations, 1992. Disarmament, 1995. Peace Negotiations in the Shadow of Violence Kristine Höglund, 2008. This book offers an analytical overview of established electric generation processes along with the present status, their affects, and how they are shaping thermal production. The book also covers the main renewable energy sources: wind and PV cells and the hybrids arising out of these. It covers distributed generation, which already has a large presence, is now being joined by wind when they burst upon the scene in full strength, are expected to revolutionize electricity production. In all the subjects covered, there are references to power marketing, how it is shaping production. There will also be a reference chapter on how the power market works.
