Stories of Fantasy Worlds from the Backside Universe Vincent B. Mottola,2001-12-01 NULL Stories of Fantasy Worlds from the Backside Universe Vincent B. Mottola,2001-12 Transfiguring Transcendence in Harry Potter, His Dark Materials and Left Behind Mike Gray,2013-10-23 Three recent and commercially successful series of novels employ and adapt the resources of popular fantasy fiction to create visions of religious identity J K Rowling s Harry Potter books Phillip Pullman s Dark Materials and Tim LaHaye and Jerry Jenkins Left Behind series The act of creating fantasy counter worlds naturally involves all three stories in the creation of what Mike Gray terms transfigurations of transcendence hopeful albeit paradoxical encodings of the ambiguous non observable reality whose primary locus in modern society is the societally extra systemic human individual Popular fantasy fiction turns out to involve acts of world creation that are inherently religious and inherently paradoxical A substantive examination shows that all three are involved in more or less intentional re narrations of traditional Christian beliefs and narratives The atheist His Dark Materials series does not deny but re imagines the Christian visions of selfhood the traditionalist Left Behind series does not simply replicate but modifies its own declared values the apparent secularity of the Harry Potter series is shaped by its creative reception of Christian patterns and narratives While the stories visions of selfhood clearly clash the basic paradoxes involved in their struggle to articulate transcendence expose significant parallels and a productive conversation with the Christian tradition It is not simply that popular fantasy fiction is theologically relevant the Christian Heilsgeschichte too proves to be highly relevant in popular culture However while far from obsolescent models of religious identity in contemporary society require criticism and creativity and as evinced most powerfully in the Harry Potter stories a flair for constructive engagement with paradox

Subcreation: Fictional-World Construction from J.R.R. Tolkien to Terry Pratchett and Tad Williams Stefanie Schult,2017-01-26 The doctoral thesis argues that the term Subcreation with its revised and broadened definition in part differing from J R R Tolkien s original term sub creation may be used for the discussion of the making of fictional worlds in literary discourse The successful conception of a fictional world depends on the reader s willing suspension of disbelief This depends both on the author and his skilled composition of the world and all its aspects as well as on the reader s acceptance of this invented fictional world The author needs to create a narrative with an inner consistency which is crucial to achieving the effect of the reader s immersion in the fictional world The fundamental aspects that an author needs to realize to achieve successful Subcreation have been structured into and analysed in four categories Language and Linguistic Variation Physiopoeia Anthropoeia and Mythopoeia Furthermore this thesis shows that as contemporary examples of fantastic literature both Tad Williams s and Terry Pratchett s fictional worlds are successfully created through the realization of these aspects of Subcreation Apart from commenting on the success of the subcreative process this thesis also remarks upon the cultural influences both authors include in their writings While both may be considered Anglophone in a general categorization Pratchett's Discworld retains a feeling of Britishness that is not to be found in Williams's Otherland. The thesis proposes several approaches to Subcreation that may be studied subsequently. So for example it may be possible to determine the success of an author's Subcreation by collecting empirical data. Apart from literary works this field of studies may also include other media.
