National Nuclear Security Administration (NNSA) Strategic Plan (2011) Thomas P. D'Agostino, 2011-08 The NNSA carries out three major nuclear security programs. It maintains the safety, security, and effectiveness of the U.S. nuclear weapons stockpile, accelerates efforts to reduce the global threat posed by nuclear proliferation and terrorism, and provides safe and effective nuclear propulsion systems for the U.S. Navy. This 2011 Strategic Plan describes the goals for the coming decade and some of the near term initiatives that will move the NNSA toward those goals. This Plan will guide planning, programming, and budgeting process and form the basis for future program requests. Charts and tables. This is a print on demand edition of an important hard to find publication.

Final Report of the Committee on a Strategic Plan for U.S. Burning Plasma Research National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Board on Physics and Astronomy, Committee on a Strategic Plan for U.S. Burning Plasma Research, 2019-07-01 Fusion offers the prospect of virtually unlimited energy. The United States and many nations around the world have made enormous progress toward achieving fusion energy. With ITER scheduled to go online within a decade and demonstrate controlled fusion ten years later, now is the right time for the United States to develop plans to benefit from its investment in burning plasma research and take steps to develop fusion electricity for the nation's future energy needs. At the request of the Department of Energy, the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine organized a committee to develop a strategic plan for U.S. fusion research. The final report's two main recommendations are:

1. The United States should remain an ITER partner as the most cost effective way to gain experience with a burning plasma at the scale of a power plant.
2. The United States should start a national program of accompanying research and technology leading to the construction of a compact pilot plant that produces electricity from fusion at the lowest possible capital cost.

Alibaba's Reflective Strategic Plan to Navigate Regulatory Challenges Joeleen Kimbell, 2025-02-18 Case Study from the year 2023 in the subject Business economics, Business Management, Corporate Governance, grade A, language English, abstract: Alibaba, one of China's leading e-commerce and technology firms, faces increasing regulatory scrutiny from Chinese authorities, particularly concerning anti-monopolistic practices, data security, and market competition. This strategic challenge necessitates a comprehensive and adaptive response to ensure compliance, maintain Alibaba's market dominance, and uphold its reputation. The regulatory landscape in China has evolved significantly with new laws such as the Anti-Monopoly Law AML and Data Security Law directly impacting Alibaba's operations. Authorities have imposed substantial fines and restrictions requiring the company to reassess its business strategies. Ensuring compliance with these evolving regulations is critical to maintaining trust among stakeholders avoiding financial penalties and securing long term sustainability. In response to these challenges, Alibaba's strategic plan focuses on reinforcing its internal regulatory frameworks, restructuring financial services and ensuring fair competition on its platforms. Transparent communication with investors, employees and customers is a key priority to maintain confidence and trust in the company's future. Ethical considerations also play a crucial role with an emphasis on strengthening data protection policies, fostering responsible restructuring practices and maintaining high ethical standards across its operations. Despite these efforts, the strategic plan acknowledges potential limitations including the dynamic nature of regulatory changes, complexities arising from Alibaba's global operations and the risk of stifling innovation due to increased compliance requirements. Addressing these concerns requires a flexible regulatory strategy, a balanced approach to maintaining Alibaba's innovative corporate culture and continuous engagement with regulatory authorities to adapt to new requirements. Ultimately, Alibaba's ability to integrate compliance measures within its corporate structure while preserving its entrepreneurial agility will be critical in navigating regulatory challenges and sustaining its leadership in China's digital economy.

Planning Maria Cerreta,Grazia Concilio,Valeria Monno,2010-09-11 This provocative collection of essays challenges traditional ideas of strategic s tial planning and opens up new avenues of analysis and research The diversity of contributions here suggests that we need to rethink spatial planning in several f reaching ways Let me suggest several avenues of such rethinking that can have both theoretical and practical consequences First we need to overcome simplistic bifurcations or dichotomies of assessing outcomes and processes separately from one another To lapse into the nostalgia of imagining that outcome analysis can exhaust strategic planners work might appeal to academics content to study what should be but it will doom itself to further irrelevance ignorance of politics and rationalistic technocratic fantasies But to lapse into an optimism that good process is all that strategic planning requires similarly rests upon a ction that no credible planning analyst believes that enough talk will miraculously transcend con ict and produce agreement Neither sing minded approach can work for both avoid dealing with con ict and power and both too easily avoid dealing with the messiness and the practicalities of negotiating out con icting interests and values and doing so in ethically and politically critical ways far from resting content with mere compromise Second we must rethink the sanctity of expertise By considering analyses of planning outcomes as inseparable from planning processes these accounts help us to see expertise and substantive analysis as being on tap ready to put into use rather than being particularly and technocratically on top Outing ,1898 Strategic Plan 2010-2014
