The Charter Of The Land Custom And Colonization In Fiji

Timothy J. MacNaught

The Charter Of The Land Custom And Colonization In Fiji:

The Charter of the Land Peter France, 1969 Study of the historical role of UK in the creation of protective legislation for indigenous peoples in the Fiji islands with particular reference to native land tenure systems comments on the social implications and consequences of applied anthropology Bibliography pp 199 to 224 and references

The Fijian Colonial Experience Timothy J. MacNaught, 2016-06-01 Indigenous Fijians were singularly fortunate in having a colonial administration that halted the alienation of communally owned land to foreign settlers and that almost for a century administered their affairs in their own language and through culturally congenial authority structures and institutions From the outset the Fijian Administration was criticised as paternalistic and stifling of individualism But for all its problems it sustained at least until World War II a vigorously autonomous and peaceful social and political world in quite affluent subsistence underpinning the celebrated exuberance of the culture exploited by the travel industry ever since

Deeds, Titles, and Changing Concepts of Land Rights David Ress, 2020-12-09 This book explores the history of public land tenure records which first began in colonial Massachusetts as English settlers and Native Americans tried to resolve differing ideas about rights to land in the seventeenth century In South Australia a similar method of state certification of land ownership arose in the nineteenth century through Torrens system title registration a process that would be widely adopted in British and American colonies as a particularly effective way of guaranteeing absolute fee simple ownership over indigenous peoples land This book explores the similarities between these two record systems highlighting how similar settlement patterns and religious beliefs in both places focused attention on recording land tenure and illustrating how these record systems encouraged new ways of thinking about rights to and on land

A Mission Divided Dr Kirstie Close-Barry, 2015-12-02 This book provides insight into the long process of decolonisation within the Methodist Overseas Missions of Australasia a colonial institution that operated in the British colony of Fiji The mission was a site of work for Europeans Fijians and Indo Fijians but each community operated separately as the mission was divided along ethnic lines in 1901 This book outlines the colonial concepts of race and culture as well as antagonism over land and labour that were used to justify this separation Recounting the stories told by the mission's leadership including missionaries and ministers to its grassroots membership this book draws on archival and ethnographic research to reveal the emergence of ethno nationalisms in Fiji the legacies of which are still being managed in the post colonial state today Analysing in part the story of her own ancestors Kirstie Barry develops a fascinating account of the relationship between Christian proselytization and Pacific nationalism showing how missionaries reinforced racial divisions between Fijian and Indo Fijian even as they deplored them Negotiating the intersections between evangelisation anthropology and colonial governance this is a book with resonance well beyond its Fijian setting Professor Alan Lester University of Sussex This thoroughly researched and finely crafted book unwraps and finely illustrates the interwoven layers of evolving complexity in different interpretations of ideals and debates on race culture colonialism and independence that informed the way the Methodist Mission was run in Fiji It describes the human personalities and practicalities interconnected at local regional and global levels which influenced the shaping of the Mission and the independent Methodist Church in Fiji It documents the influence of evolving anthropological theories and ecumenical theological understandings of culture on mission practice The book s rich sources enhance our understanding of the complex history of ethnic relations in Fiji helping to explain why ethnic divisive thinking remains a challenge Jacqueline Ryle University of the South Pacific A beautifully researched study of the transnational impact of South Asian bodies on nationalisms and church devolution in Fiji and an important resource for empire studies as a whole Professor Jane Samson University of Alberta Canada Colonial Lives Across the British Empire David Lambert, Alan Lester, 2006-11-23 A series of portraits of imperial lives to rethink the history of the British Empire in the nineteenth century

Berger, 2013-10-18 The emergence of the Third World is generally traced to onset of the Cold War and decolonization in the 1940s and 1950s In the 1960s and 1970s the three worlds of development were central to the wider dynamics of the changing international order By the 1980s Third Worldism had peaked entering a period of dramatic decline that paralleled the end of the Cold War Into the 21st century the idea of a Third World and even the pursuit of some form of Third Worldism has continued to be advocated and debated For some it has passed into history and may never have had as much substance as it was credited with while others seek to retain or recuperate the Third World and give Third Worldism contemporary relevance Beginning with a comprehensive introduction this edited volume brings together a wide range of important contributions Collectively they offer a powerful overview from a variety of angles of the history and contemporary significance of Third Worldism in international affairs The question remains did the Third World exist what was it does it still have intellectual and political purchase or do we live in a global era that can be described as After the Third World This book was previously published as a special issue of Third world Quarterly

Changing Contexts, Shifting Meanings Elfriede Hermann, 2011-09-30 This book sheds new light on processes of cultural transformation at work in Oceania and analyzes them as products of interrelationships between culturally created meanings and specific contexts In a series of inspiring essays noted scholars of the region examine these interrelationships for insight into how cultural traditions are shaped on an ongoing basis The collection marks a turning point in the debate on the conceptualization of tradition Following a critique of how tradition has been viewed in terms of dichotomies like authenticity vs inauthenticity contributors stake out a novel perspective in which tradition figures as context bound articulation This makes it possible to view cultural traditions as resulting from interactions between people their ideas actions and objects and the ambient contexts Such interactions are analyzed from the past down to the Oceanian present with indigenous agency being highlighted The work focuses first on early encounters initially between Pacific Islanders themselves and later with the European navigators of the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries to clarify how meaningful actions and contexts interrelated in the past The present day memories of Pacific Islanders are examined to ask how such memories represent encounters that occurred long ago and how they influenced the social political economic and religious changes that ensued Next contributors address ongoing social and structural interactions that social actors enlist to shape their traditions within the context of globalization and then the repercussions that these intersections and intercultural exchanges of discourses and practices are having on active identity formation as practiced by Pacific Islanders Finally two authorities on Oceania who themselves move in the intersecting space between anthropology and history discuss the essays and add their own valuable reflections With its wealth of illuminating analyses and illustrations Changing Contexts Shifting Meanings will appeal to students and scholars in the fields of cultural and social anthropology history art history museology Pacific studies gender studies cultural studies and literary criticism Contributors Aletta Biersack Fran oise Douaire Marsaudon Bronwen Douglas David Hanlon Brigitta Hauser Sch ublin Peter Hempenstall Margaret Jolly Miriam Kahn Martha Kaplan John D Kelly Wolfgang Kempf Gundolf Kr ger Jacquelyn Lewis Harris Lamont Lindstrom Karen Nero Ton Otto Anne Salmond Serge Tcherk zoff Paul van der Grijp Toon van Meijl International Labour Documentation ,1970 Fijian Studies ,2007-05 Land and Differentiation in Rural Fiji John Overton,1989 Islanders of the south Paul van der Grijp,1993 Islanders of the South is an ethnography of the kingdom of Tonga in the South Pacific This is the first book to examine the interplay of Polynesian and Western ideas within contemporary social and economic practices not from the point of view of Tongan aristocracy but from that of the common people The first describes contemporary Tongan society and the main means of subsistence agriculture fishing and manufacturing An analysis of the kinship system with its economic political and ideological dimensions is intertwined with a discussion of Tongan attitudes on life and death marriage and divorce social rights and obligations migration and remittances Later chapters deal with the crucial questions of land ownership and the circulation of gifts A large number of genealogies biographies and case studies help convey how Tongans live together and how they experience their relationship to nature Effects on Tonga of global developments predominantly capitalist in nature are expressed in the commercialization of the means of subsistence bringing about changes often regarded as progress The author raises doubts about this ideology of progress by referring to aspects of nature and culture in Tonga which are disappearing Up to now Tongans have largely been able to preserve the circulation of gifts and economic self sufficiency
