The Making Of Cities:

The Making of Cities Walter G. Bor, 1972 Making Cities Work Robert P. Inman, 2009-01-05 Making Cities Work brings together leading writers and scholars on urban America to offer critical perspectives on how to sustain prosperous livable cities in today's fast evolving economy. Successful cities provide jobs, quality schools, safe and clean neighborhoods, effective transportation, and welcoming spaces for all residents. But cities must be managed well if they are to remain attractive places to work, relax, and raise a family; otherwise, residents, firms, and workers will leave, and the social and economic advantages of city living will be lost. Drawing on cutting edge research in the social sciences, the contributors explore optimal ways to manage the modern city and propose solutions to today's most pressing urban problems. Topics include the urban economy, transportation, housing, and open space; immigration; race; the impacts of poverty on children; education; crime; and financing and managing services. The contributors show how to make cities work for diverse urban constituencies and why we still need cities despite the many challenges they pose. Making Cities Work brings the latest findings in urban economics to policymakers, researchers, and students, as well as anyone interested in urban affairs. In addition to the editor, the contributors are David Card, Philip J. Cook, Janet Currie, Edward L. Glaeser, Joseph Gyourko, Richard J. Murnane, Witold Rybczynski, Kenneth A. Small, and Jacob L. Vigdor.

The Making of Urban America John William Reps, 1965. This comprehensive survey of urban growth in America has become a standard work in the field. From the early colonial period to the First World War, John Reps explores to what extent city planning has been rooted in the nation's tradition, showing the extent of European influence on early communities. Illustrated by over three hundred reproductions of maps, plans, and panoramic views, this book presents hundreds of American cities and the unique factors affecting their development.

The Making of Civilization Ruth Whitehouse, John Wilkins, 1986 The Art of City-making Charles Landry, 2006. First Published in 2006, Routledge is an imprint of Taylor & Francis, an informa company.

Making Cities Global A. K. Sandoval-Strausz, Nancy H. Kwak, 2018. Making Cities Global argues that combining urban history with a transnational approach leads to a better understanding of our increasingly interconnected world. In order to achieve prosperity, peace, and sustainability in metropolitan areas in the present and into the future, we must understand their historical origins and development.

The Challenge Of Making Cities Liveable In East Asia John Wong, Liang Fook Lye, 2016-06-03. The rate of urbanisation will accelerate in the years ahead. The massive influx of people to cities will result in the demand for more services, expending more resources, and generating more waste. The forces of globalisation and better connectivity will hasten this urbanisation process. Although the developed and developing countries in East Asia are at different stages of development, they have to grapple with the common challenge of improving the quality of life for urban residents and making cities liveable. This book brings together a collection of articles that traces the process of urbanisation in selected countries in East Asia, including the achievements and challenges encountered. It seeks to promote the sharing of best practices and experiences that can be a reference for governments and relevant stakeholders to facilitate the process of urbanisation that brings about the greatest benefits to residents and lessens the negative impact on the environment The Making of Cities Walter Bor,1974 Sustainable Education and Development – Making Cities and Human Settlements Inclusive, Safe, Resilient, and Sustainable Joseph N.
