Rocha E Silva, J. Garcia Leme, 2013-10-22 International Series of Monographs in Pure and Applied Biology Modern Trends in Physiological Sciences Volume 37 Chemical Mediators of the Acute Inflammatory Reaction traces the history of investigation into the acute inflammatory reaction from the early observations in invertebrates to the experiments of therapeutic significance for humans This book focuses on mediators that are accepted as being commonly involved in the inflammatory reaction such as histamine kinins serotonin prostaglandins and permeability factors The topics discussed include the phagocytic system and antibody production factors which influence phagocytosis measurement of the acute inflammatory reaction and combined actions of mediators The reaction to injury and manifestation of inflammation and biochemical aspects of anti inflammatory drug reaction are also covered This volume is beneficial to anatomists biochemists physiologists immunologists pathologists pharmacologists and clinicians interested in acute inflammatory reaction

Antimicrobial Peptides and Complement - Maximising the Inflammatory Response Cordula M. Stover, 2015-12-18 Antimicrobial peptides and complement are distinct components of the innate immune defence While antimicrobial peptides after cleavage of a preproprotein have the ability to insert directly in non host membranes complement requires a sequential enzymatic activation in the fluid phase in order to produce a transmembrane membrane attack complex Its insertion is controlled by membrane bound regulators Deficiencies are described for both effectors and relate to increased susceptibility of infection In addition however antimicrobial peptides and complement each influence the activity of inflammatory cells as recent data in the respective research areas shows This series of articles draws together for the entities of antimicrobial peptides and complement a balance of contributions in the areas of evolution roles functions and preclinical applications By comparing and contrasting antimicrobial peptides and complement greater cross disciplinary appreciation will be derived for their individual and overlapping spectra of activity circumstances of activation and their general ability to more completely inform the
