When in 1858 Newman was retiring from the Catholic University in Dublin friends approached him when confronted with the problem of where to educate their sons and he became the central figure in the establishment of the Oratory School Newmand and his co founders a trio of brilliant Catholic laymen two parliamentary barristers and Lord Acton faced stiff resistance in setting up the first Catholic public school and once it opened their troubles were compounded by a staff mutiny and threats of closure from Rome This is no standard story because the Oratory School was no standard school It was the school s fate to be caught up in many of the key controversies of the time not least because of its association with Newman and for this reason the tale of its formative years under Newman provides important insights into Victorian life and English Catholic history The story of the early years of the school which counted Gerard Manley Hopkins among its masters Hilaire Belloc among its pupils and Newman as its guiding light is told here fully for the first time    Routledge Library Editions:

19th Century Religion Various Authors,2021-07-09 Reissuing works originally published between 1973 and 1997 Routledge Library Editions 19th Century Religion 18 volumes offers a selection of scholarship covering historical developments in religious thinking Topics include the origin of Catholicism in America sexual liberation and religion in Europe and the emergence of Atheism in Victorian England This set also includes collections of sermons and essays from some of the most influential preachers of the nineteenth century    Nineteenth-Century European Catholicism Eric C. Hansen,2017-09-07

The North East of England was regarded as a major Catholic stronghold in the nineteenth century This was in no small part due to the large numbers of Irish Catholic immigrants who contributed greatly towards the region s unprecedented expansion with the Catholic population in Newcastle and County Durham increasing from 23 250 in 1847 to 86 397 in 1874 How far were the Catholic Church and its incoming Irish adherents accepted by the Protestant population of North East England This book will provide a timely reassessment of the hitherto accepted view that local cultural factors reduced the anti Catholic and anti Irish feeling in the North East that seemed deep seated in other areas This book demonstrates the way in which north eastern anti Catholicism was far from homogenous and monolithic cutting across the political and religious divide It highlights the proactive role of the Catholic communities in sectarian controversy whose assertiveness contributed ironically towards the development of local anti Catholic feeling Finally it will show how large scale Irish immigration ensured that the North East experienced regular outbreaks of sectarian violence whether English Irish or intra Irish which were influenced by local conditions and circumstances This book is the first comprehensive regional study of Victorian anti Catholicism By examining areas of enquiry not previously considered in broader studies its findings have wider implications for understanding the prevalent and all encompassing nature of anti Catholicism generally It also contributes towards the wider debate on North East regional identity by questioning the continued credibility of a paradigm which views the region as exceptionally tolerant Religious Education in Public Schools: Study of Comparative Law José Luis Martínez
