The Calling 20th Century Women Artists And Other Poems:

The Calling Judy Wells, 1994-01-01 Twentieth-century Chinese Women's Poetry: An Anthology Julia C. Lin, 2014-12-18 Chinese women's writing is rich and abundant although not well known in the West. Despite the brutal wars and political upheavals that ravaged twentieth-century China, the ranks of women in the literary world increased dramatically. This anthology introduces English language readers to a comprehensive selection of Chinese women poets from both the mainland and Taiwan. It spans the early 1920s and the era of Republican China's literary renaissance through the end of the twentieth century. The collection includes 245 poems by forty poets in elegant English translations as well as an extensive introduction that surveys the history of contemporary Chinese women's poetry. Brief biographical head notes introduce each poet from Bin Xin, China's preeminent woman poet in the early Republican period to Rongzi, a leading poet of modern Taiwan. The selections are startling, moving, and wide-ranging in mood and tone. Together they present an enticing palette of delightful, elegant, playful, lyric, and tragic poetry.

Fire in the Garden Lucille Day, 1997. Poetry. Lucille Lang Day was born in Oakland, California, and studied at the University of California, Berkeley, and San Francisco State University. In addition to poetry, she writes essays, short stories, and reviews. Her first poetry collection, Self Portrait with Hand Microscope, received the Joseph Henry Jackson Award in Literature from the San Francisco Foundation. Lucille Day's stunning language in FIRE IN THE GARDEN has the metaphorical precision and complexity of Sylvia Plath, coupled with a voluptuousness that is all her own. She is afire in a world where white flames dance. Judy Wells' FIRE IN THE GARDEN is a book of beauties and mutilations, erotic intimacies, distances, and mysteries, seductive dreams, and sardonic deflations of our common dreamlife. It runs hot, cold, and shivery, and will keep surprising you with the taste of ash on its lips. Alicia Suskin Ostriker's books INFINITIES and WILD ONE are also available from SPD.

Twentieth Century, 1890. Women and Christian Mission Frances Adeney, 2015-11-04. What are Christian women thinking about mission? How do they do mission? What informs their knowledge and action as they address issues in a complex world where religious proselytizing has become suspect? This empirical study explores those questions, finding congruence among women from diverse backgrounds and cultural contexts. Women in mission face common identity issues, utilize art and beauty in their work, and develop character as they overcome obstacles in their cultural and denominational settings Through nearly one hundred interviews of women in Europe Asia Brazil and the United States a study of women s theologies of mission lectures and countless conversations with women around the globe this study finds common themes among contemporary women doing Christian mission This book fills a lacuna in mission studies that professors pastors and church women and men will find informative and refreshing
