The British Toy Business A History Since 1700:

The United Kingdom Since 1945 Chris Wrigley, 2025-12-26 The United Kingdom Since 1945 A Post Imperial Nation is an economic and social history providing an appraisal of seventy five years of British and Northern Irish history The UK emerged from the Second World War victorious but impoverished After a period of austerity the UK participated in the boom in the international economy that continued from the 1950s until the 1970s Harold Macmillan the Conservative Party Prime Minister famously told the electorate in 1957 that the country had never had it so good With global decolonization UK trade turned more to the European Economic Community EEC and less to the Commonwealth countries with the UK joining the EEC and its successor the European Union from 1973 until 2020 All four countries saw population growth both from the birth rate and substantial net inward migration But as this volume argues developments were not uncomplicated The need for more housing for example was partly met by tower blocks but some of these deteriorated after relatively short lives and were demolished while others became sink estates Urban change also saw the decline of shopping centres and small independent shops In addition to examining this economic and social change Chris Wrigley focuses on popular culture from the growth in TV to developments in music and art as well as the continued influences of declining entertainments like the music hall The volume combines a focus on post imperial features with a recognition of the long shadow cast by the Second World War The United Kingdom Since 1945 is distinctive in its long timespan and its breadth of coverage and is the perfect introduction for all readers interested in the complex contemporary history of this diverse nation

The British Toy Business Kenneth D. Brown, 1996-01-01 At its height British toymaking was a significant industry with famous names such as Britains and Meccano known throughout the world While in essence a specialised form of small scale engineering its products and market have always been unique reflecting the current priorities of both parents and children Yet while individual toys and marques have been catalogued extensively no previous history of toymaking as a whole exists The British Toy Business provides a fascinating example of the development of a specific industry Many early early toys were home made From the eighteenth century with its growing recognition of children as something other than small adults date the beginnings of specialised toys usually produced by small workshops and sold by street sellers The nineteenth century with its industrial growth and middle class prosperity saw an expansion of toymaking The 1960s and 1970s were the most successful years of British toymaking with companies like Lesney making record profits Yet British toy makers failed to solve a number of fundamental problems Following an unexpected sudden downturn in sales at a time of high interest rates the major names in British toy making Lesney Airfix Mettoy and Dunbee Combex Marx all collapsed between 1979 and 1985 leaving the business to be dominated largely by importers
