Pedagogies of Woundedness James Kyung-Jin Lee, 2021-12-22 What happens when illness betrays Asian American fantasies of indefinite progress The Cancer Journals Audre Lorde, 1980 Originally published in 1980 Audre Lorde's The Cancer Journals offers a profoundly feminist analysis of her experience with breast cancer a modified radical mastectomy Moving between journal entry memoir exposition Lorde fuses the personal political refuses the silencing invisibility that she experienced both as a woman facing her own death as a woman coping with the loss of her breast After Lorde died of cancer in 1992 women from all over the U S beyond paid tribute to her in essays poems Aunt Lute's special hardcover edition of The Cancer Journals gathers together twelve such tributes as well as a series of six photographs taken of Lorde by photographer Jean Weisinger Tributes by Margaret E Cronin Linda Cue Elliot Ayofemi Folayan Jewelle Gomez Margaret Randall Adrienne Rich Kate Rushin Elizabeth Sargent Ann Allen Shockley Barbara Smith Evelyn White New Media in Black Women's Autobiography T. Curtis, 2015-03-04 Examining novelists bloggers and other creators of new media this study focuses on autobiography by American black women since 1980 including Audre Lorde Jill Nelson and Janet Jackson As Curtis argues these women used embodiment as a strategy of drawing the audience into visceral identification with them and thus forestalling stereotypes What We Lose Zinzi Clemmons, 2017-07-11 A National Book Foundation 5 Under 35 Honoree NBCC John Leonard First Book Prize Finalist Aspen Words Literary Prize Finalist Named a Best Book of the Year by Vogue NPR Elle Esquire Buzzfeed San Francisco Chronicle Cosmopolitan The Huffington Post The A V Club The Root Harper's Bazaar Paste Bustle Kirkus Reviews Electric Literature LitHub New York Post Los Angeles Review of Books and Bust The debut novel of the year Vogue Like so many stories of the black diaspora What We Lose is an examination of haunting Doreen St Flix The New Yorker Raw and ravishing this novel pulses with vulnerability and shimmering anger Nicole Dennis Benn O the Oprah Magazine Stunning Powerfully moving and beautifully wrought What We Lose reflects on family love loss race womanhood and the places we feel home Buzzfeed Remember this name Zinzi Clemmons Long may she thrill us with exquisite works like What We Lose The book is a remarkable journey Essence From an author of rare haunting power a stunning novel about a young African American woman coming of age a deeply felt meditation on race sex family and country Raised in Pennsylvania Thandi views the world of her mother's childhood in Johannesburg as both impossibly distant and ever present She is an outsider wherever she goes caught between being black and white American and not She tries to connect these dislocated pieces of her life and as her mother succumbs to cancer Thandi searches for an anchor someone or something to love In arresting and unsettling prose we watch Thandi's life unfold from losing her mother and learning to live without the person who has most profoundly shaped her existence to her own encounters with romance and unexpected motherhood Through exquisite and emotional vignettes Clemmons creates a stunning portrayal of what it means to choose to live after loss An elegiac distillation at once intellectual and visceral of a young woman's understanding of absence and identity that spans continents and decades What We Lose heralds the arrival of a virtuosic new voice in fiction Life Writing as World Literature Helga Lenart-Cheng, Ioana Luca, 2025-05-01 A global array of contributors explore the interplay between translation and circulation mediums and materialities and aesthetics and politics in how life writing is shaped by and becomes world literature We live in the age of popular self representation in that most people around the globe either produce or consume autobiographical material memoirs selfies blogs etc The current volume investigates this global phenomenon and examines how life writing and world literature converge Why do some personal stories get picked up translated circulated and taught in classrooms while others remain moored in local waters Do autobiographical stories that travel widely have something in common about them Or is it the other way around is it our notion of world literature that imposes uniform expectations on these diverse texts And what can we gain from studying these two fields in conjunction Life Writing as World Literature brings together experts who map regional and local autobiographical traditions from six continents These scholars explore the dynamic interplay between local and global aesthetics and sociopolitical concerns presenting case studies that include prison narratives from communist regimes Japanese diaries multilingual Caribbean memoirs Indian auto biographical comics and stories by Taiwanese domestic workers To understand how and why some personal stories enter global dissemination contributors inquire into translation market mechanisms and circulation patterns while also exploring the affordances of new media and materialities when recording contemporary lives Life Writing as World Literature brings a fresh perspective to both fields world literature and life writing opening up exciting avenues of research
