The Buffoon:

Laughter, Humor, and Comedy in Ancient Philosophy Pierre Destrée, Franco V. Trivigno, 2019-08-06 Ancient philosophers were very interested in questions about laughter humor and comedy. They theorized about laughter and its causes moralized about the appropriate uses of humor and what it is appropriate to laugh at and wrote treatises on comedic composition. This volume explores themes that were important for ancient philosophers the psychology of laughter the ethical and social norms governing laughter and humor and the philosophical uses of humor and comedic technique Mirth

Making Chris Holcomb, 2001 MIRTH MAKING examines the complex and often contradictory ways in which writers of rhetoric and courtesy manuals during the English Renaissance counseled their readers on the powers and hazards of jesting. Shedding light on a subject largely neglected by contemporary scholars Holcomb's pathbreaking study demonstrates how such humor related advice points to and participates in broader cultural phenomena most notably the era's increase in social and geographic mobility and the contest between authority and subversion. Describing the English Renaissance as a brief but crucial phase in the history of jesting discourse Holcomb differentiates humor related counsel of the period from that of classical and medieval sources by its focus on communication between people of different stations. Holcomb shows that in a changing society handbook writers presented jesting as a socially conservative force and suggests that with a well placed jest or quip an orator might enhance his status and persuasive power or shame and ridicule those beneath him. Holcomb also recognizes however that rhetoricians confronted significant challenges as they sought to capture explain and teach a strategy both powerful and chaotic elusive and ubiquitous highly economical in form and potentially unpredictable in effect. Holcomb concludes that because of the disruptive energies inherent in jesting rhetoricians of the English Renaissance could not escape the fact that jesting is always a flirtation with disaster Thomas Henry Lyon Michael Yelton, 2023-12-15 The first ever description of the life and work of Thomas Henry Lyon 1869-1953 an important but neglected twentieth century architect Calcutta Review, 1891 Ancient Indian And Indo-Greek Theatre M.L.
