Cross and Cosmos John D. Caputo, 2019-07-23 John D Caputo stretches his project as a radical theologian to new limits in this groundbreaking book Mapping out his summative theological position he identifies with Martin Luther to take on notions of the hidden god the theology of the cross confessional theology and natural theology Caputo also confronts the dark side of the cross with its correlation to lynching and racial and sexual discrimination Caputo is clear that he is not writing as any kind of orthodox Lutheran but is instead engaging with a radical view of theology cosmology and poetics of the cross Readers will recognize Caputo's signature themes hermeneutics deconstruction weakness and the call as well as his unique voice as he writes about moral life and our strivings for joy against contemporary society and politics The Call of the Cosmos. (Edited by V. Dutt.) [A Translation by A. Shkarovsky and Others of "Путь К Звездам", a Collection of Works of Science Fiction by Tsiolkovsky, with an Essay by B.N. Vorobyov Entitled, "Science Fiction in Tsiolkovsky's Writings." With Plates, Including Portraits.] Konstantin Tsiolkovskii, 1963 CosMos Ervin Laszlo, Jude Currivan, 2008-08-01 We stand at the threshold of a revolutionary and empowering new vision of the world The discoveries of leading edge science and the insights of spirituality are converging to reveal that the CosMos and all that we term reality is wholly integrated and that at its most fundamental level it is a field of information This is the elemental cosmic mind from which everything emanates is manifested and to which all ultimately returns Research is also demonstrating what the mystics of all traditions have discerned that we have the innate ability to envision understand and experience the CosMos at levels far beyond the limitations of our human persona CosMos is co authored by two explorers who combine almost a century of seeking to understand not only how the world is as it is but why Philosopher Ervin Laszlo Ph D and healer and scientist Jude Currivan Ph D offer a revisioned view of the world that is no longer fragmented but is at last whole Theirs is a perception of a meaningful and co creative world that is exquisitely tuned to be as simple as it can be for consciousness to explore itself In these momentous times the vision shared in Cosmos invites us to open our hearts and minds to remember who we really are and to take our places as conscious co creators of our realities and of our evolving cosmic destiny The Call of the Cosmos. Constructing Fear. Cosmic Indifference and Literary Strategies in H. P. Lovecraft's Fiction Dominik Kruczinski, 2025-11-05 Master's Thesis from the year 2025 in the subject American Studies Literature grade 1.3 University of Duisburg Essen Department of Anglophone Studies course North America Studies language English abstract This following study focusses on two of Lovecraft's most conceptually rich and formally distinct stories The Call of Cthulhu 1926 and The Colour out of Space 1927 While both are ideal examples of his vision of a universe governed by cosmic indifference they contrast in structure setting and narrative technique The narrative of The Call of Cthulhu is characterized by a multi layered collection of fragmented reports and testimonies which sketch the discovery of a reality that is impossible to comprehend The Colour out of Space by contrast leads the reader through the slow erosion of perception and coherence within a rural landscape where horror manifests as an all surrounding force In both texts fear is enacted through narrative form structural disintegration linguistic failure and the gradual collapse of meaning The chosen investigative focus will lay on how H P Lovecraft narratively constructs cosmic indifference and to what extent this method can be understood as a literary representation of Naturalist and Sublime ideologies These aspects combined are theorized to be the core of what Lovecraft s idea of Cosmicism refers to The main aim is to explore the mechanisms through which his fiction produces fear by utilizing a unique narrative design stylistic choices and aesthetic devices Horror in this reading is not just regarded as pure transfer of content characterized by symbolisms or emotional effects The analysis of his fiction will present how fear is deliberately built into the framework of Lovecraft s storytelling To that end the study considers two literary traditions to be the most influential in that regard Naturalism with its emphasis on determinism material limits and the destruction of agency and the philosophical Sublime which covers disorientation excess and the collapse of comprehension These frameworks offer a lens through which Lovecraft s narrative techniques can be read not just as fancy stylistic choices but as structural strategies that perform ontological conflicts
