Dhaubhadel, 1995 Proceedings of the 1995 Joint ASME JSME Symposium on Numerical Developments in CFD Topics include Newton Krylov methods adaptive techniques segregated solvers cell vertex algorithms pressure based time marching finite volume algorithms hybrid unstructured grid methods high order infinite diff Journal of Applied Mechanics, Winter Annual Meeting American Society of Mechanical Engineers, TRU Mathematics, 1970 An Iterative Substructuring Method for Coupled Fluid-solid Acoustic Problems Jan Mandel, 2000 A fast parallel iterative method is proposed for the solution of linear systems arising from Finite Element discretization of the time harmonic acoustics of coupled uid solid systems in uid pressure and solid displacement formulation The method generalizes the FETI H method for the Helmholtz equation to elastic scattering The uid and the solid domains are decomposed into non overlapping subdomains Continuity of the solution enforced by Lagrange multipliers The system is augmented by duplicating the degrees of freedom on the wet interface The original degrees of freedom are then eliminated and the resulting system is solved by the GCR method preconditioned by a subspace correction In each iteration the method requires the solution of one independent acoustic problem per subdomain and the solution of a coarse problem with several degrees of freedom per subdomain Computational results show that the method is scalable with the problem size frequency and the number of subdomains The number of iterations was mostly about same as the number of iterations of the FETI H method for the related Helmholtz problem with Neumann boundary condition instead of elastic scatterer Convergence is explained from the spectrum of the iteration operator Journal of the Optical Society of America, 1985 Journal of Mechanical Design, 2007 Transactions of the Society of Petroleum Engineers, 1982
