Strategic Power And Soviet Foreign Policy:

Strategic Power and Soviet Foreign Policy Arnold Lawrence Horelick, Myron Rush, 1965      Soviet Foreign Policy
Erik P. Hoffmann, Robbin Frederick Laird, Frederic J. Fleron,      Soviet Foreign Policy in a Changing World Robbin F. Laird, Erik P. Hoffmann, 2021-03-22 No detailed description available for Soviet Foreign Policy in a Changing World      Peace Studies Matthew Evangelista, 2005 The academic field of Peace Studies emerged during the Cold War to address the nature and sources of interstate and internal conflict and methods to prevent it and deal with its consequences      Nuclear

Strategy in the Twenty-First Century Stephen J. Cimbala, 2000-05-30 The future of nuclear weapons and nuclear strategy in the 21st century is not entirely predictable from the Cold War past Nor is it easy to foresee on the basis of what has happened since the Soviet Union collapsed in 1991 Cimbala contends that nuclear weapons and the psychology of nuclear deterrence will remain important after 2000 but the character of that importance will change No longer will nuclear weapons be the dominators of military technology Instead advanced technology conventional weapons based on information and electronics will supplant nuclear weapons as the instruments of military supremacy in the 21st century What Cimbala asks can be expected of nuclear weapons in the 21st century given what we have learned from previous experience in the Cold War and in the 1990s Cimbala expects that nuclear weapons will spread among currently non nuclear states and states with regional grievances or hegemonic aspirations will seek to deploy small nuclear forces as deterrents against neighbors or against outside intervention by the United States in regional conflicts Regional rogue states may also obtain nuclear weapons Nonetheless as Cimbala explains the international balance of power is unlikely to change As he makes clear power will be less dependent on deployed military platforms and more dependent on information warfare A thoughtful and provocative analysis that will be of particular interest to policy makers scholars and other researchers involved with arms control security studies and international relations      Coercive Military Strategy Stephen J. Cimbala, 1998 Coercion is persuasion supported by the threat or use of force Just as warfare is often diplomacy carried out by other means coercion the threat of combat or the threat of an escalation in the intensity of combat is a more subtle method of dispute that shades the spectrum between diplomacy and warfare Understanding of coercive military strategy is a prerequisite to the successful making of either policy or war In Coercive Military Strategy Stephen J Cimbala shows that coercive military strategy is a necessary part of any diplomatic strategic recipe for success Few wars are total wars fought to annihilation and military power is inherently political employed for political purpose in order to advance the public agenda of a state so in any war there comes a time when a diplomatic resolution may be possible To that end coercive strategy should be flexible for there are as many variations to it as there are variations in wars and warfare Cimbala observes several cases of applying coercive strategy in the twentieth century the U S strategy of limited war during the Cold War the Cuban Missile Crisis in which both the United States and the Soviet Union applied coercive strategy Desert Storm in which the Coalition Forces could practice coercion without restraint and the Vietnam War in which U S coercive strategy was ultimately a failure Additionally Cimbala examines coercion and the theory of collective security which implies a willingness on the part of individual states such as the NATO nations to combine against any aspiring aggressor With his examples and the arguments they illustrate Cimbala shows that although coercive strategy is a remedy for neither the ailments of U S national security nor world conflict it will become more important in peace crisis and even war in the next century when winning with the minimum of force or without force will become more important than winning by means of maximum firepower
